BRITISH FIGHT OFF BIG RAIDS

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—Royal Air Force defenders and a squadron of more than a score of German dive-bombers, escorted by fighter planes, fought a blaizng, half-hour battle alonlong the southeast coast tonight when the Nazi raiders attacked a string of British ships.

WARNS ENGLAND—Radioed from Berlin, photo shows Adolf Hitler as he received the formal German salute from high Nazi officials as he addressed the Reichstag and the world, warning Great Britain to withdraw from the conflict to avert "destruction of a great empire."

Their motors wide open, the German Stukas dived time after time at the ships, releasing salvos of bombs which sent geysers of water shooting skywards.

Billows of smoke from the explosives virtually obscured the vessels as the British fighters swept in to aid the marine procession.

In a few seconds the sky was alive with planes and bursting anti-aircraft shells.

It was such a rapidly unfolding scrap that spectators watching from coastal cliffs scarcely could distinguish the German planes from the British.

4 NAZIS SHOT DOWN

The British finally broke up the German formations and the attackers streaked back across the channel for their bases with R. A. F. planes on their tails.

Observers said they believed at least four German planes were downed. One plane plunged straight into the sea. One airman bailed out at 5000 feet over the sea and another took to his parachute over land.

It was the second big air scrap of the day.

German bombers earlier had blasted the length of Britain from John O'Groats to Land's End in pointed emphasis to Adolf Hitler's "last chance" peace offer, which found Britons coldly contemptuous.

BOMBED BY 17 PLANES

Roaring across the coast in the early morning, the Nazis swarmed over the country throughout the day in one of the worst raids of the war.

The day-long attacks were capped in mid-afternoon with a lightning raid on ships anchored in a southern English harbor. Seventeen planes let go bomb cargoes with a mighty din, but apparently no ships were hit.

Anti-aircraft and fighting planes, kept busy fending off the attackers, broke up this foray. One German plane was believed shot down in the channel and observers said two others might have been downed by anti-aircraft fire in this fight.

4 FLIERS CAPTURED

In southeast England, four German airmen, one of them wounded, were taken prisoner when their bullet-shattered craft fluttered to earth.

Defense forces battled raiders over southwest England, Wales and southeast Scotland.

A lone Nazi bomber let go three

POPE PIUS XII
In New Peace Attempt

NEW PEACE PLEA BY POPE NEAR

VATICAN CITY, July 20 (INS)—High Vatican circles today expressed themselves as favorably impressed with Hitler's Reichstag speech and asserted Pope Pius was ready to make a supreme effort to prevent a "fight to annihilation."

These quarters intimated that the Pontiff would, to begin with, strive for a temporary truce between Britain and the Italo-German alliance.

Such a truce, it was said, would give Europe a respite from wholesale devastation and allow time to explore possibilities for a permanent settlement.

In Vatican circles, as elsewhere, it is believed that if the Italo-German Axis throws its full forces against Britain, the ensuing battle would be one of the deadliest and most destructive in history.

Hitler's offer was regarded as holding at least the germ of a possible settlement, albeit perhaps devoid of anything but the remotest chance of peace.

British Rescue 545 From Duce Warship

CAIRO, July 20 (AP)—The British rescued 545 men from the Bartholomeo Colleoni, Italian cruiser sunk in a Mediterranean naval battle yesterday, a British communique asserted today.

No casualties were suffered by the British in the action, although the Italian air force bombed their ships several times while they were rescuing the Italians from the water and while the fleet was returning to its base.

Italian communiques asserted their air force sank one British ship.

LISTLESS PRISONERS

An Associated Press correspondent stood on the deck of one of the British destroyers at Alexandria and watched the Italian survivors, listless and most of them covered only by lifebelts or shorts, gingerly walk down the gangplank to the blazing hot quay as prisoners.

Most of them gave the Fascist salute—the only salute they knew—and murmured "thank you" to British ships officers as they stepped on Egyptian soil.

One British officer told of the fight:

"We sighted two Italian cruisers and immediately opened fire. One Italian cruiser turned tail in a hurry, but Bartholomeo Colleoni tarried long enough to answer our fire, then started a mad dash in any direction that seemed to represent safety.

ITALIAN IN MAD FLIGHT

"We followed, keeping up a steady fire. The Italian cruiser fired at us sporadically, but did not hit anything and continued its effort to get away, he relied upon her superior speed of 40 knots, but we weer too close at the time to permit that.

"One of our shells hit the boiler room of the Bartholomeo Colleoni. We continued shelling, but the Italian commander ordered the crew to abandon ship because they had started stripping off their clothing and flinging themselves overboard. As we came up they were crying to us to save them.

"We immediately started picking up what Italians we could, while continuing to shell the cruiser, then we launched two torpedoes which landed squarely amidships and started her on the way down.

"Another torpedo reached the cruiser's magazine so her ammunition started exploding like an American Fourth of July celebration. That was the end."

HITLER WILL WAIT WEEK, THEN BLITZ!

BERLIN, July 20—Adolf Hitler is waiting to hear the "voice of England" regarding acceptance or rejection of his final peace offer before attacking Great Britain with "terror to millions," it was understood on reliable authority today.

Definite indications Hitler hopes the British people will speak over the heads of their government were forthcoming. But well-informed quarters allowed a margin of only days before the final phase of war begins with a 'blitzkrieg" against the heart of the British Empire.

German spokesmen c.nstantly reiterated the phrase "the next days" in discussing the time when Hitler will launch the attack which he himself predicted before the Reichstag would result in complete annihilation of either Britain or Germany. He expressed certainty Britain would be the loser.

It was made clear the decision for continued war or peace will be made by Hitler alone. It will be based, spokesmen said, upon "authentic information and reaction from England."

If Hitler finally decides the British have no wish for a bloodless peace, "the lightning assault by land, sea and air" will be on.

2 Slugging Boy Bandits Hunted

Two youthful bandits, shabbily dressed, were sought by police today after they obtained $25 in one Roxbury holdup and slugged a store proprietor in another.

The bandits first entered the Roitman Pharmacy, on Prentiss st., Roxbury, forced the owner, M. G. Roitman, into a rear room and stole $25 from the cash register.

Shortly after they entered a variety store on Columbus ave. and ordered the proprietor, Barney Glantz, to turn over his cash. When he replied that he had none, one of the pair hit him over the head with the butt of a gun.

Miss Logan Resigns City Hospital Post

Miss Laura R. Logan, superintendent of nurses at Boston City Hospital and target of bitter attacks during most of her three-year tenure of office, has finally quit her $4000 per year post, trustees of the hospital announced today.

MISS LAURA R. LOGAN
Quits as Superintendent of City Hospital Nurses

Carl Dreyfus, chairman of the board, said Miss Logan submitted her resignation Monday.

It was accepted and she was given immediate leave of absence until autumn, when the resignation will become effective, Dreyfus revealed.

"The trustees felt that Miss Logan was entitled to the leave of absence with pay," Dreyfus said.

CAME HERE IN 1937

He announced that Miss Margaret Busche, first assistant to Miss Logan, had been appointed acting superintendent of nurses.

Miss Busche, a native of Ohio, came here with Miss Logan in 1937 as her No. 1 aide, at a salary of $2405 a year. She lives in the Nurses' Home in Massachusetts ave.

Asked if it were true Miss Logan and the trustees had been engaged in controversies that were climaxed by the resignation, Dreyfus said:

"I'd put it that there have been some discussions."

Miss Logan was brought here from Chicago by Mayor Mansfield's administration in 1937.

She then had a national reputation as a hospital and nurses' school administrator.

CENTER OF STORMS

The trustees who installed her at Boston City Hospital said the purpose of her appointment was to improve the standing of the nurses' training course there.

Almost from the time of her arrival here, Miss Logan was opposed and criticized by various political and institutional factions.

The City Council demanded she and eight assistants, many of them non-Bostonians, be ousted. The council also refused to approve appropriations for her salary and the salaries of her staff.

The trustees until now, however, stood behind her, juggling the budget to meet the expense of retaining her.

MOTHER AND SON FIGHT FOR LIVES

In a tense operating-room drama Massachusetts General Hospital surgeons fought today to save the life of a North End mother —fearing to tell her that her four-year-old son lay dying in the same institution.

The mother is Mrs. Lena Di-Franza, who was removed to the hospital two days ago to undergo a serious abdominal operation.

The child is her son, Angelo, 4, crushed under an ice wagon, his frail body so broken that doctors held only the scantest hope for his survival.

Dante Di Franzo, of Sheaf st., North End, the husband and father, begged hospital officials not to inform the mother that her boy was in the accident ward. All possible efforts were made to keep the news from Mrs. Di Franzo.

Suffering internal injuries the boy was given a blood transfusion soon after arrival at the hospital with his father as donor. His name in on the danger list.

According to police the youngster was standing on the curbstone in Prince st., North End., near Thatcher st., when he was struck by the right rear wheel of a passing horse-drawn ice wagon. He fell beneath the wheel which passed over him.

The wagon, police said, was driven by Bernetta Berily 45, of Endicott st., North End.

Election Betting Nears Even Money

NEW YORK, July 20 (INS)— With odds now 6 to 5 in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt, even money bets in the presidential race were being forecast in Wall Street today as Wendell L. Willkie stock boomed.

Only small wagers have been placed in the street during the last day or so. Betting commissioners expect real money to show soon, with plenty of takers.

Bullitt Home, Lauds Petain and French

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—William Bullitt, U. S. ambassador to France, returned from Europe on the Dixie Clipper today to confer with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull after having been out of effective contact with them for more than five weeks.

He explained that despite the war turmoil in France he had been able to communicate with U. S. officials most of the time, but not in the volume nor with the certainty and privacy necessary for the normal transaction of his duties.

He indicated he expected to return to France. He is going to Washington after stopping at his brother Orville's home in Philadelphia.

PRAISE FOR PETAIN

The ambassador declined to discuss possible developments abroad, but spoke freely about what he had seen.

"In German-occupied France," he said, "the French people have all the magnificent qualities they have always had."

He praised highly Marshal Petain for having done, despite his advanced age, "everything possible" to restore order in such disrupted fields as communications.

Bullitt's fellow-passengers included former Empress Zita of Austria and her daughter, the Archduchess Elizabeth, who had to leave their Belgian exile because of the war.

The Empress and her daughter were met by two of her sons who had arrived in New York previously, and the party left by car for the Royalston, Mass., estate of Calvin Bullock, Wall Street broker.

Malden Men Held In Attack on Girl

Charged with a criminal attack on a young Malden girl while driving her home from a Revere night club, three Malden men were held in $5000 each in Malden court today and their cases continued to next Thursday. All pleaded not guilty.

The three are Robert McGrath, 29, of Andrews st.; Albert J. Grasso, 22, of Blaine st., and Angelo De Chiara, 22, of Cleveland st.

According to police the girl reported she jumped from the car once but was forced back again by the three men and attacked.

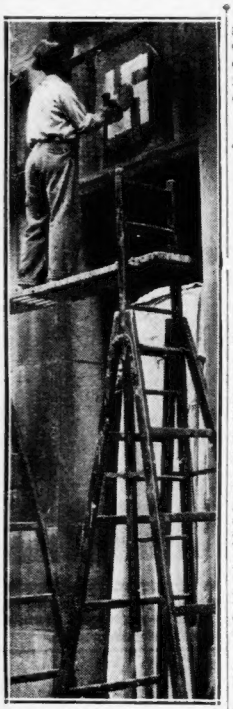
5 Men Held in Plot To Beat Fish Dealer



SWASTIKA'S END — Stone mason chips the swastika from the front of the Boston Insurance Exchange block in Broad st. The cross, which was an age-old Indian emblem, was adopted by Nazi Germany . . . the fact that caused the erasure today.

Arrested on conspiracy charges growing out of an alleged price-cutting feud between two Dorchester fish market proprietors, five men were taken to Roxbury court today.

Police told Judge Timothy Ahern a weird story of how a reputed "strong arm man," allegedly hired by one market owner to beat up the other, went in friendly fashion to the prospective victim and said to him:

"I'm supposed to slug you but I hate to do it. So here's some surgeon's plaster. Just put it on your face to make it look as if you took a licking. You won't be hurt but I'll collect my money."

POLICE TELL OF PLOT

Police alleged the fee for the beating was $50.

For conspiracy to extort this sum from Hyman Cushner, Blue Hill ave. fish market proprietor, they arrested Philip Sahl, 28, the alleged "strong arm man," and Louis Bloom, 24, of Walcott st., Dorchester.

Special Officer Leo Devlin of Dudley st. station testified Bloom went with Sahl to the Blue Hill ave. fish market of Louis Corin, 45, and was a party to the agreement about the use of the surgeon's plaster.

ALL 5 MEN HELD

Arrested on charges of conspiracy to commit assault and battery were Cushner, Joseph Binder, 28, of Willowwood st., Dorchester, and Joseph Richards, 28, of Wollaston ter., Dorchester.

Police said Binder and Richards acted as go-betweens for Cushner in hiring Sahl.

Corin went to Dudley st. station and told his story after the conversation with Sahl, according to Special Officer Devlin.

Judge Ahern held all five defendants in $500 each for a continued hearing July 26.

Blackout for Swastikas on Broad St. Block

Apparently convinced at last that swastikas, Nazi or pre-Nazi, are inappropriate decorations for a business building, owners of the Boston Insurance Exchange block in Broad st. put a pair of stone masons to work today chiselling two of the emblems off the building's entrance.

Carved in bold relief in a three foot circle, the swastikas were originally placed on the building in 1923, long before they were associated in American minds with Germany's National Socialist Party.

On the theory they were of Indian origin and emblems of good luck, the hooked crosses were part of decorations designed by Coolidge, Shepley, Bulfinch and Abbott, distinguished Boston architects.

Building Supt. Robert Wood pooh-poohed until recently the Nazi connotations of the swastikas. But events in Europe continued to inflame public opinion here against Hitler and everything typifying him.

So today the Boston Insurance Exchange went definitely anti-Nazi —and rubbed the emblems off its entrance.

10 Flee Gas Fumes In Revere House

Ten persons, including four children, were driven out of a three-family house on Acadia st., Revere, today when a gas pipe burst in the cellar.

LYNCHBURG, S. C., July 20 (INS)—U. S. Sen. Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D.) of South Carolina, whom President Roosevelt attempted to "read out" of the Democratic party last summer, today branded the Roosevelt-Wallace presidential ticket "un-Democratic," and declared he would not support it.

At the same time, the fiery statesman, who said he was "a Democrat and intended to continue a Democrat," stated he would not vote for the Republican presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie.

"The men carrying the party banner (Roosevelt and Wallace) are not Democrats," Smith said. "They are New Dealers.

"I have long been opposed to the New Deal and I shall continue to oppose it."

MID-WEST SUFFERS HOTTEST DAY OF YEAR

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—The hottest weather of the year scorched the Midwest and large areas of the East today, bringing the inevitable heat wave death toll.

Fatalities were reported, five of them drownings and six attributed to the heat.

There was little likelihood of relief before Monday. The heat wave has blistered Nebraska and other midwest areas for four days and spread into Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York yesterday.

Temperatures of 100 or higher were due again today in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa; Chicago expected 95, with corresponding readings from here eastward. Only far northern Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota were comparatively cool after local showers.

There were some scattered rains in northern Nebraska and South Dakota which suffered under temperatures as high as 107.

Corn in Nebraska, now in the critical stage, began to wilt in the fourth straight day of temperatures at 100 or higher over most of the state.

In New York State, Buffalo sweltered in warm, muggy weather, New York City expected its warmest day with a high of 92.

Most of New England had the prospect of fair and somewhat warmer weather tonight and tomorrow.

Iowans hoped predicted scattered showers would give them relief tonight from three days of sizzling weather. Detroit sweltered with temperatures likely to equal yesterday's seasonal high of 93.

Showers, Cool Winds Bring Heat Relief

Intermittent showers, mingled with cooling winds, lowered New England's temperature today but forecasters predicted ideal summer weather tomorrow for thousands of visiting vacationers and picnickers.

A cloudburst at Narragansett race track today made it necessary to call off harnes races scheduled there.

The usual series of seasonal mishaps occurred during yesterday's heat, claiming a total of five lives, while beach crowds were thrilled by several rescues.

Daniel J. Murphy, 29, of Worcester and Howard Ware, 53, of Rockland, father of seven, were drowning victims.

Auto acidents took the lives of Barbara Pinto, four, run over in front of her home in Acushnet ave., New Bedford, and Mrs. Alfred Schofield, 23, of Danbury, Ct., bride of less than a year, kocked from her bicycle and killed by a car in Danvers.

Frank Pierce, 60, of Hastings st., Lowell, collapsed and died of a heart attack in Waltham.

PILOT DENIES SEA CRIME

GLOUCESTER, July 20—Pleas of guilty to drunkenness and innocent to two other charges in connection with abandonment of the $50,000 cabin cruiser Ruth Eleanor, found sinking off Good Harbor by two lobstermen, were entered in district court today by Joseph P. Davidson, 49, of Portland, Me.

Davidson was charged with wilfully and maliciously injuring property, and attempting to defraud an insurance company by opening a sea cock of the Ruth Eleanor to allow her to sink.

Judge Edward Morley ordered Davidson held in total bail of $5000 for a hearing next week.

Davidson, president of the Davidson Boat Yard, Inc., of Portland, Me., was picked up by police in Rocky Neck, exclusive residential section, while authorities were probing what was first believed to be a murder mystery.

Until they found him, police and Coast Guards feared the Maine man and another person had been victims of foul play, because the 26-ton cabin cruiser was abandoned and foundering, with both sea cocks open, when two lobstermen came upon it.

Davidson was quoted by police as saying the craft sprung a leak and that he was forced to abandon ship in a dinghy.

Youth Quizzed In Girl Attack

Leaping from behind a tree near Simmons College today, a burly youth brutally slugged Verna Christopher, 29, attractive brunette, then knocked her to the ground and kicked her as he attempted to steal her purse.

The girl's screams were heard by two officers on patrol in a Roxbury Crossing police cruiser, Arthur Coe and James Dooley, and as they approached, the thug fled.

In a two-mile foot chase through the Fenway, parking lots and along Park Drive and Brookline ave., the officers pursued Miss Christopher's assailant. A 19-year-old Roxbury youth was finally apprehended near Huntington ave. and taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Hollywood Reports Olivia to Wed Lord

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—A simple notice in a New York newspaper concerning an Englishman started Hollywood talking again today about Olivia deHavilland's marital future.

The notice informed the world that Lord Michelham of Lonodn will be responsible no longer for debts of his wife, Lady Bertha Michelham—and this furnished gossip material because the movie colony well remembers the friendship of Olivia and the nobleman.

In fact, ever since her trip to England two years ago, Olivia has been expected by many of her friends to renounce her life before the camera and to acquire the Michelham name.

The talented actress' remarkable success as Melanie in "Gone With the Wind," strangely enough may have strengthened her resolve to quit Hollywood, because everyone here has heard that Olivia anticipated better roles as the result of her triumph. Instead, she has received parts in some pictures which she, at least, considers second-rate.

So irked, indeed, has Olivia become with her producers that on more than one occasion lately she appeared on the verge of leaving town in righteous anger—and she can display flashes of wrath equal in intensity to her rare beauty.

In her latest protest over castings, Olivia was reported to have threatened to elope with Jimmy Stewart, with whom she is often seen at night clubs and sports events.

And her friendship with Jim has developed since the holiday in London, which adds to the complications.

Trio Injured in Crash After Police Chase

Three Somerville youths were injured, two of them seriously, today when a speeding auto, chased by police, rolled over three times taking a Stoneham highway curve at 60 miles an hour.

The car was one allegedly stolen in Cambridge. It bore Illinois number plates, covered by stolen Massachusetts plates.

Police listed the victims as Francis X. Dion of Illinois ave., Albert Bryant of Myrtle st., and James F. Martin of Cutter st., all of Somerville.

TWO SERIOUSLY HURT

Dion and Bryant were reported in critical condition at the New England Sanatorium, Stoneham, with possible skull fracture and multiple cuts and bruises.

They were rushed to the hospital in a Stoneham fire department hose wagon called to the scene by a citizen's alarm.

Martin, named by the police as the driver of the car, was less seriously hurt. He was treated at the hospital and placed under police guard.

All three victims, thrown clear of the auto as it overturned, were knocked unconscious.

CAR FAILED TO HALT

The chase began when Motorcycle Officer George McDonough of Stoneham tried to halt the car on Main st., Stoneham. The crash came at the end of a 2-mile chase.

The car got out of control as its driver tried to turn from Pond st., Stoneham, into Finney ter. The wrecked auto sideswiped a parked milk truck as it overturned.

Ousted Maine Official Dead

AUGUSTA, Me., July 20 (AP)—Louis A. Winship, 75, former assistant State Treasurer died today at Augusta General Hospital after several weeks illness.

Winship was employed by the state for 27 years, but resigned last spring at the request of Gov. Lewis O. Barrows following disclosure of shortages in the accounts of resigned State Controller William A. Runnells, indicted for larceny by embezzlement.

Winship absolved of any connection in the Runnells' shortages, was taken to the hospital shortly after a long hearing in which the Legislature in special session refused to ask the Governor and council to remove State Treasurer Belmont A. Smith, who refused to resign.

Flint Commander Goes Under Knife

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS)—Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, commander of the S. S. Flint when it was seized by the Nazis, will undergo a minor operation in an eastern naval hospital, he said today in Chicago.

Capt. Gainard reached Chicago after completing a maritime commission assignment in fitting out ships in New Orleans. He will return to active duty after the operation.

The Nazis seized and released the S. S. Flint early in the war.

El Trolley Lines Guarded in Threat

Cambridge police were rushed to guard the Leachmere sq. viaduct and other trolley lines of the Boston Elevated today following a telephoned "wreck" threat.

D. D. Hall, superintendent of the Elevated, notified Cambridge police who said they believed the threat the work of a crank though they dispatched two radio cars to the viaduct.

VISITOR IN BOSTON

HUB HOST TO CADETS, MIDDIES

Embryo officers of the United States Navy and the Coast Guard took over Boston today when more than 1000 of the middies and 36 of the Coast Guard cadets were brought here on three battleships and three Coast Guard cutters.

Midshipmen and cadets will be here until Tuesday as part of their annual summer cruise, marking the first time the middies have ever come to Boston on such a cruise and their first appearance here since 1937, when Annapolis men attended the Harvard-Navy football game.

The battleship Texas, carrying 340 of the bronzed Annapolis lads, docked at the Navy Yard but the battleships Arkansas and New York, with the balance, anchored in President Roads and brought the middies to Boston Army Base in liberty launches.

The Texas, commanded by Capt. C. N. Hincamp, had on board Rear Admiral Hayne Ellis, commanding the squadron for the summer cruise in eastern waters.

Several hundred of the Annapolis men attended the Boston Red Sox-Cleveland Indians ball game at Fenway Park, while others with liberty set about sightseeing.

Relaxation, sightseeing and informal parties formed the program today, while on Monday more than 700 of the middies and the 36 Coast Guard cadets will parade in downtown Boston.

Also on Monday, officers of the visiting ships will be luncheon guests of Mayor Tobin and U. S. Sen. David I. Walsh at the Algonquin Club.

BAN ON KIN AFTER 4 STRIKE IN WATERTOWN

Dominic B. Raymond, who owns a sand, gravel and cinders business in Mt. Auburn st., Watertown, wants "no more relatives."

He referred to his four striking employes who happen to be his brother-in-law and three nephews.

Raymond, watching them picketing his plant continued gloomily:

"They have no respect for me. They insult me."

The strikers were Frank N. Arone, 50, of Norseman, ave., brother-in-law, who has worked for Raymond 30 years; Anthony and Bruno Finelli, brothers and nephews, of Hillside rd., and Dominic J. Raymond, another nephew, of School lane, Watertown.

Mutual recriminations, charges and counter-charges, all revolving about the recent affiliation of the quartet with the Building Material Drivers' Union, Local 379, A. F. of L., marked the first day of the strike.

Trouble appeared in the making when a truck load of cement blocks arrived and the driver was prevented by the pickets from unloading. Raymond called police but, before officers arrived, the union driver had departed with his load of blocks.

WESTERLY, R. I., July 20—Miss Rita Wheaton, 18, went to her grave today while her sweetheart, Hugh B. Kenyon, 20, unconsolably grief-stricken and repentant, remained behind to answer to the law.

Funeral services for the slain girl were at the Gaffney funeral home here, with burial in St. Sebastian Cemetery.

Young Kenyon, who told police he beat Rita to death after she refused to marry him, mourned alone in his jail cell at nearby New London, Ct., where he awaits a hearing on first degree murder charges July 29.

A few hours after the crime, authorities reported the youth as cool and unemotional. But when police took him to the mortuary where Rita lay in death, the youth, became almost hysterical.

Handcuffed to Sergt. Fred O. Johnson of the Connecticut State Police, Kenyon came face to face with James Wheaton, brother of the slain girl, as he entered the funeral home.

For a moment, each eyed the other; Kanyon dropped his glance, then looked upon the body. It was then that his poise broke completely. Scalding tears filled his eyes.

He was allowed to remain only five minutes.

Later officers quoted the youth as saying:

"It would never happen if I had Wednesday night to live over again."

U. S. Writer Beaten By Japs

SHANGHAI, July 20 (AP)—Hallet Abend, correspondent for the New York Times, was assaulted in his apartment last night by two Japanese who seized several pieces of manuscript after demanding "all his anti-Japanese writings."

U. S. Acting Consul-General Richard P. Butrick protested today to Japanese Consul General Yoshiaki Miura, demanding an apology, compensation and assurance against repetition of the incident.

Abend said that two Japanese, armed with pistols and with their hats pulled low over their eyes, invaded his apartment in Japanese-occupied Hongkew, beat him on the head, twisted his elbow, and forced him to his knees.

NEW YORK, July 20 (INS)—A spokesman for the New York Times said today that the newspaper would make vigorous protestations to the State Department at Washington against the beating allegedly ministered by two Japanese gendarms yesterday to Hallet Abend, their Far-Eastern correspondent in Shanghai.

Posse Seizes Bank Bandit

MARYSVILLE, Kan., July 20 (AP)—A chase by 150 citizens, in which more than 20 shots were fired, ended with the wounding an capture of one of two escaped convicts in a church a few hours after they had robbed the Diller, Neb., State Bank of $5000.

The wounded bandit's companion escaped. He kidnaped two persons and commandeered two automobiles in his panic-stricken flight.

The captured man, Lowell Haenbe, 27, of Sleepy Eye, Minn., told Tom Blodgett, city marshal, that he escaped with two companions from the Fort Madison, Ia., penitentiary June 22. His fellow fugitive are Ivan Sullivan, 29, Trenton, Mo., and Forrest Estes, 35, Mountain Home, Ark.

Congress Whets Ax for F. D. Big Money Defense Measures

WASHINGTON, July2 0 (INS)—Congress reconvenes Monday and appeared grimly determined today to give President Roosevelt's requests for new billions for national defense "considerable more" scrutiny.

Capitol leaders denied a stiffening attitude by the Congress would be due to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is running for a third term. They took the position the Legis'ature already has appropriated enough money to get the President's $14,500,000,000 national defense program fully under way. Therefore, they explained, the first emergency is over and there will be more time to study proposed expenditures.

Among those who took that view was Senator Walter George (D.) of Georgia, a member of the powerful Senate finance committee.

George, recalling that Roosevelt's multi-billion-dollar defense appropriations had been enacted in record time, predicted:

"There will be considerable more debate and consideration in the future on the President's requests."

Six major pieces of legislation face the lawmakers:

Roosevelt's "total defense" bill calling for $5,000,000,000 to equip an army of 2,000,000, if necessary.

Roosevelt's request for authority to call out the National Guard.

A compulsory military training bill.

An excess profits tax.

The Walter-Logan bill to give federal courts more authority over quasi-judicial federal agencies, such as the National Labor Relations Board.

The House-approved Smith measure curbing powers of the NLRB.

SEE GRAB OF POWER

Biggest fight was expected over presidential power to mobilize the full National Guard. Roosevelt critics, growing more bitter because of the third term issue, were expected to denounce the request as an attempt by the Chief Executive to "grab" powers belonging to the staies.

However, it was generally agreed there was need to call out the guard to help train those sent into service under an impending compulsory military training bill. As a result, debate will center on personal attacks on the President rather than merits of the step.

It was also generally believed some sort of a compulsory military training program would be enacted as the movement has gained widespread support. The Army has made plans, subject to Congressional approval, to call 1,300,000 men for training by October, 1941.

Administration leaders were driving for a mid-September adjournment but Republicans in both House and Senate voted to demand that Congress remain in session for the duration of Europe's war.

Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan declared:

"I pity anybody who votes to adjourn Congress in view of the present temper of the country."

FARM PARLEY—Talking farm problems with Gov. George A. Wilson of Iowa (left), Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, gets a few ideas regarding the farm section for his formal acceptance speech which will be delivered next month in Elwood, Ind. Scene is Colorado Springs hotel where Willkie is vacationing.

WILLKIE RAPS F. D. R. NOBLE MOTIVE PLEA

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 20 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie settled back into his vacation routine today after declaring, in a brief address at Denver, he would "make no pretense of noble motives" in seeking the presidency.

"I frankly sought the opportunity to run for President on the Republican ticket because I have some deep-seated convictions I want to present to the American people and which, if I am elected, I want to carry into execution," the nominee said.

Willkie made the talk while a luncheon guest yesterday at the Denver Union stockyards. He conferred informally with cattle and sheep men and visited a beet sugar plant, the Federal Veterans' Hospital near Denver, and an 80-acre beet, melon and corn farm before flying back to Colorado Springs. He said he planned to get a "good rest" over the weekend.

TALKS ABOUT CROPS

At the farm of Emil Ehlen, near Brighton, Colo., Willkie sat in the parlor and had the farmer tell him in detail about the crops he produced and what he got for them.

The former Indianan joked with Frank A. Kemp, president of the Great Western Sugar Co., who was in the room, about Kemp's estimates of high corn yield in Colorado.

"Well," interposed Farmer Ehlen, "There's a place across the road that gets 110 bushels to the acre. This hybrid corn yields heavier."

Ehlen then showed his visitor about the farm. Willkie shook hands with several dozen farmers and their wives who gathered at the Ehlen place on hearing the nominee was there.

JIBES AT REPORTERS

While inspecting the stock yards, Willkie entered a sheep pen and "roughed" one of the animals. Turning to reporters, some of whom had traveled with President Roosevelt, Willkie jibed:

"You fellows don't know anything about sheep—you have been following a fellow who races boats and does things like that."

While at Denver, Willkie, received a telegram from Don R. Burton, a friend now at Bohemian Grove, Cal., advising him that Irvin S. Cobb, the Paducah, Ky., humorist, intended to support the Republican nominee as "a real fellow Democrat."

Old Democratic Paper Bolts F. D.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 20 (AP)—The Harrisburg Patriot, of which Vance C. McCormick, former Democratic national chairman, is publisher, announced its support today of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee.

McCormick, who was his party's candidate for Governor in 1914, was chairman of the Democratic national committee in 1916 during President Wilson's campaign for a second trem.

The Patriot said in an editorial it was "sorry" it could not support President Roosevelt, whose nomination, it said, "breaks the third term tradition as well as the hearts of millions of Democrats who had hoped the dangerous and uneconomic policies of the New Deal would be repudiated and the party rededicated to its fundamental principles."

"Willkie's utterances," the Patriot said, "reflect his Democratic background and gives evidence of sound thinking on economic and other public policies such as the Hull trade treaties."

President Signs Navy's $4,610,000,000 Bill

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt has signed a bill authorizing a $4,610,000,000 expansion of the Navy designed to give the United States a "two ocean" fleet capable of meeting any possible hostile combination.

The White House announced the signing today, while Mr. Roosevelt was cruising on the Potomac.

He already has asked Congress to provide $83,000,000 to start work on the new program which, when completed in 1946 or 1947, would give the nation a total of 701 fighting craft built around the world's most powerful single aggregation of capital ships—35 dreadnaughts.

In addition to about 200 new surface ships and submarines to cost $4,010,000,000 with the additional facilities they will require, the new law authorized the Navy to acquire for $600,000,000 a total of 15,000 airplanes, 50 per cent more than he previously authorized maximum.

DEMOCRATS RETURN, SAY TICKET CAN WIN

None too happy over the steam-roller nomination of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as New Deal candidate for Vice-President but otherwise apparently united in support of the party ticket in November, members of the Massachusetts delegation to the Democratic National Convention at Chicago returned to Boston today.

Noticable upon their arrival was a spirit of harmony in sharp contrast to the factional differences which split the group at the time of its departure.

The homecoming was quiet, with a small crowd greeting the delegates as compared tothe noisy throng which saw them off.

Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever, one of the first off the train, said he believed "nomination of Pres. Roosevelt by acclamation insures success of the state ticket in November."

Former Governor Hurley said he enjoyed the convention, but refused to comment otherwise.

Former Executive Councilor James H. Brennan said:

"I think the Democratic party has a winning ticket in Roosevelt and Wallace. There should be no opposition to Wallace in Massachusetts. He supported Al Smith in 1928.

"And since then he has demonstrated abilities and statesmanship well fitting for the position for which he has been nominated."

Former Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kelly said:

"I voted for Farley for president and for vice-president, to carry out my pledge, but I shall abide by the convention choice and believe all good Democrats will do the same."

Mrs. Margaret M. O'Riordan, newly-elected National Committeewoman from Massachusetts, and her daughter, Mary, was sure all party differences would disappear and a united democracy would support the President for a third term.

John P. Doherty, secretary of the Boston board of assessors and a convention delegate from Charlestown, came back on a stretcher. He was seriously injured during a convention session when a movie camera platform fell on him.

Mayor Tobin arranged for a special compartment for him on the train and telegraphed ahead for an ambulance to meet the train and convey Doherty to City Hospital. He was met at the station by his wife and mother, who accompanied him tothe hospital.

The mayor also took time to settle a wager he had made on the train with former Lt.-Gov. Kelly. Tobin bet Kelly a new hat that trustees of the Boston Elevated were appointed for five years, while Kelly bet that the appointments were for 10 years. Aboard the train was Elevated Trustee Patrick J. Welsh, who confirmed Kelly's claim. The mayor marched Kelly into a hat shop in the North Station and Kelly walked away with a new Panama hat.

Tobin autographed the band inside the hat.

bombs over a northeast Scottish coastal town, badly damaging a school.

Britain meantime ignored Hitler's "final appeal" for peace on his own terms and indicated she was ready for a test of strength, undaunted by Nazi threats.

A scornful silence was the government's answer to the German dictator, who yesterday gave England the choice of coming to terms or facing "total destruction."

NAZIS SEEK SPLIT?

It was intimated that Prime Minister Churchill might have some comment to make in the House of Commons Tuesday, but official circles pointed out he had emphasized only last Sunday Britain's determination to fight to a finish and they declared Hitler's "offer" scarcely merited an answer.

PRESS BIDS FAREWELL TO FARLEY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS)—"Good-bye and good luck, Jim," was the tenor of a farewell reception given by the press to James A. Farley retiring chairman of the Democratic national committee, before he returned today to New York to wind up his political affairs preparatory to entering private business.

It was an unusual, straight-from-the-shoulder tribute to Farley. Many of the newspapermen and editors delayed their departure for home to be present at the farewell party to Farley.

They said nice things to "Jim," and "Jim" made quite a speech himself, mostly "off the record" but straight from the heart.

From now until Aug. 17, Farley will devote his time to cleaning up affairs at the New York headquarters of the Democratic party so that everything will be ready for his successor who will run Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1940 campaign for a third term.

Along about Aug. 1, President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, the Vice-Presidential nominee, will meet with a subcommittee and choose a successor to the astute Farley, who in 1932 and 1936 successfully put over Roosevelt's campaigns.

Farley won't quit politics entirely when he takes over the New York Yankees. He will retain his job as head of the New York Democratic state committee and he will support the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket. Whether he will make any campaign speeches, however, has not been determined.

He will relinquish his cabinet post as Postmaster General, but the announcement of this change will come from President Roosevelt.

Garner Willing To Serve if Needed

WASHINGTON, July 20 (INS)—Although Vice—President John Nance Garner, the "forgotten man" of the Democratic party is planning to retire from public life, he is willing to serve his country again if needed, his associates revealed today.

The Texan will make known his plans within a few days to close friends and to President Roosevelt, whom he opposed for a third term nomination.

"Cactus Jack" has made it clear to his friends, however, that he does not intend to take an active part in the Democratic campaign.

Friends say he will leave for his home at Uvalde, Tex., early next week.

It is doubtful his associates report whether the 71-year-old Texan, who has served his nation in public office since 1903, will return to Washington for the remainder of the present session of Congress. It is also doubtful, they observe, that he will ever return to Washington as a public figure.

President to Rest At Hyde Park Home

WASHINGTON, July 20 (INS)—Cool breezes of the Potomac river today eased the heat of Washington's summer and of the impending political campaign for President Roosevelt.

Accompanied only by his secretarial, the President was cruising somewhere south of the capital aboard his yacht Potomac.

Some time late today the presidential yachting party will return from its cruise. A special train was in readiness to take Mr. Roosevelt up to his Hyde Park home for about four days. He will leave either tonight or tomorrow.

The latter part of the week Mr. Roosevelt will meet with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, named as his vice-presidential running mate. The President and Wallace have two immediate and major problems—the charting of their respective roles in the forthcoming campaign against the G. O. P. ticket of Willkie and McNary, and the selection of a man to succeed Postmaster-Gen. James A. Farley as Democratic national chairman.

Here Are the CORRECT ANSWERS in the BOSTON RECORD-AMERICAN REBUS GAME

Today the Boston Record-American announces the correct list of answers in its Rebus Game.

While the checking process disclosed a large percentage of errors, the final results showed that more perfect sets of answers were submitted than there are prizes to award. In accordance with Rule No. 4 of the contest rules, all prizes must therefore be reserved for those contestants who submitted perfect sets of answers identical with the official list below:

1. Pen	19. Lark	37. Saw	55. Hip	73. Plod
2. Single	20. Spot	38. Peanut	56. Film	74. Pam
3. Gas	21. Past	39. Night	57. Bust	75. Bum

18. Clamp	36. Rear	54. Row	72. Care	90. Loco

The Boston Record-American regrets that contestants who missed one or more of the answers are necessarily eliminated from further participation. However, a surprisingly large number of participants declared that they entered the contest primarily for the fun of it and that it has proved an interesting diversion apart from the opportunity of competing for a prize.

Contestants with perfect scores will be duly notified and have been mailed a set of tie-breaking puzzles, as provided for in the rules. This announcement, in addition to the letter and tie-breaking puzzles, is deemed of sufficient notice to such contestants.

In fairness to all concerned, the Boston Record-American cannot be responsible for any communication or answers lost or unduly delayed in the mail either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

To all contestants participating and particularly to those who may have been eliminated by the above announcement, the Boston Record-American wishes to express its sincere appreciation for the keen interest that has been shown.

Charm Must Grace Beauty to Win Title

"Miss Massachusetts" ENTRY BLANK

I hereby apply for entry as a contestant for the title "Miss Massachusetts," the winner of which contest will participate in the American Beauty Event Contest to select the Most Beautiful and Talented Girl, sponsored by the Showmen's Variety Jubilee, to be held the week commencing Sept. 2, at Atlantic City, N. J., for the title of "Miss America 1940."

Name_____

Street_____

City or Town_____

Age_____

MAIL TO MISS MASSACHUSETTS EDITOR, BOX 228, BOSTON, MASS.

Any girl living in the state, professional beauty and amateur alike, is eligible to enter the beauty contest from which Miss Massachusetts 1940 will be selected.

This does not include, of course, employes or members of the family of those conducting the competition. The bars are down, too, to girls who are or who have been married.

For full particulars, read the rules which appear elsewhere on this page.

The reward is great for the girl who has beauty, but she must also have the poise and charm and talent to qualify her for the title. Musical or dramatic ability, skill as a dancer, a beautiful singing voice, are all important assets in this contest.

THRILLING WEEK

The lucky "Miss Massachusetts 1940" will enjoy a week of thrilling festivities in Atlantic City during the week of Sept. 2. Even if she does not win the national title this gay vacation week, and the opportunities to be seen by leading film scouts and theatrical magnates, will be ample compensation.

This is YOUR opportunity. Read the rules of the contest and fill out the accompanying entry blank. This may be your first step toward realization of your dreams.

The contest for "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is sponsored by the Boston Daily Record, Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser. The winner will be furnished free transportation by the newspapers to Atlantic City and a complete wardrobe suitable for a week of thrilling vacation activities at the gay seaside resort. Meals and accommodations at a first-class hotel will also be provided.

FREE WARDROBE

An alluring evening gown and a smart bathing suit are included in the wardrobe. And if "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is selected for the national title, there will be screen tests by filmdom's leading scout talents, some $2500 in contracts, and other opportunities.

National finals will be held at Atlantic City from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8, and gay and elaborate plans are already afoot for the pageant.

The contest here is open to any Massachusetts girl who is an American citizen between the ages of 18 and 28, and who never has been married.

BEAUTY CONTEST RULES

Rules of "Miss Massachusetts" Contest:

1—This contest, under the auspices of the Boston Daily Record, Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, is open to all single women (never having been married) who are residents of Massachusetts and citizens of the United States and who are between the age limit of 18 and 28 on Sept. 1, 1940.

2—Contestants must have poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure, irrespective of height or weight.

3—Also, they must have good diction and must possess talent, such as singing, dancing or dramatic ability, or must be able to play a musical instrument.

4—Contestants must be of good character and standing in their community and must be in good health.

5—Contestants may be either amateur or professional. Past experience will have no bearing on the final selection.

6—Each young woman desiring to enter the contest must fill out the entry blank which appears on this page and accompany it with a picture of herself, preferably in a bathing suit. As a precautionary measure each contestant should write her name and address on the reverse side of each photograph. These papers cannot assume responsibility for the return of photographs submitted by the contestants.

7—The finalist in the contest will be in a series of preliminary contests, the dates and places of which will be announced later. Winners of the preliminary contests will be judged in a Final Contest, date and place to be selected later. At this time the finalist and two alternates will be chosen.

8—Contestants will be required to appear for judging at the places and times specified by the manager of the contest.

9—The winner will receive free transportation to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, first class meals and accommodations at a leading Atlantic City hotel, and a wardrobe. Transportation and wardrobe will be supplied by the Daily Record, Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

10—If for any reason the winner is unable to go to Atlantic City, the first of the two alternates will be chosen to take her place.

11—No employe or member of the family of the Committee or Committee of the Showmen's Variety Jubilee of Atlantic City or of the newspapers conducting the contest is eligible to enter the competition.

12—No girl who is or has been married, or whose marriage has been annulled will be eligible for entry in the competition.

13—Mail all communications to Miss Massachusetts Editor, Box 228, Boston, Mass.

IN CONTEST — Along with several other Bay State girls, Edwina Dawn Thibodeau (above) today had entered contest to select Miss Massachusetts. She's 23, of Boylston st., Boston.

Father Kills Girl in Dream

MUNFORD, Tenn., July 20 (AP)—A bereaved father told today of a nightmare that made him leap from bed and kill his little daughter under the delusion she was a mad dog.

After Reuben Flynn's strange story had been investigated no charges were filed in the death of 3-year-old Helen Marie Flynn at their tenant farm home.

The family was awakened by the child's screams, found the 35-year-old father flailing her against the walls of a bedroom where she had been sleeping with her parents.

ily in Europe would be able to get here.

Ambassador Bullitt declined to comment on Nazi infiltration in Spain reported by war refugees who arrived Thursday on the liner Manhattan.

Bullitt said he was treated "with the utmost respect and courtesy by the Germans when they marched into Paris."

The German commander, Gen. von Studniz, paid him an official call, and on being reminded that there were many embassy and other buildings under Bullitt's protection, "gave immediate orders that those things should not be molested."

The ambassador also praised highly the American women embassy attaches in Paris. Despite the imminence of bombing, he said, 20 of them asked permission to stay at their posts.

In Paris and elsewhere, he said, "I went any place I wanted without escorts of any kind" and with no unpleasantness.

The French soldier of 1940 he remarked, "was fully the equal of the soldier of 1914."

Another passenger was former Gov. John Winant of New Hampshire, now head of the International Labor Office in Geneva, Switzerland.

Umbrella Ties Up 'L,' Injures One

A Boston Elevated railway guard was injured and several hundred passengers were frightened and delayed today when an umbrella, falling from the platform of the Park st. under subway station, short-circuited the third rail.

The resultant roar and flash threw into a near panic passengers entering and leaving a subway train from Harvard sq.

Guard Arthur O'Brien climbed down into the pit and sought to dislodge the umbrella with a three-foot stick.

A second short circuit ensued and the flash burned both O'Brien's wrists and caused undetermined injury to his eyes.

A police ambulance from Joy st. station took him to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Shirley Sees How It's Done

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (AP)—Shirley Temple knows now what a busman's holiday is.

She spent one yesterday visiting her friend Deanna Durbin and joining in chocolate sodas. Said Shirley

"I didn't know it was so much fun to watch pictures being made. It's fun to sit behind the camera and not have anything to worry about."

Incidentally, the studio that Shirley visited was Universal. It's there, persistent rumors say, that Shirley may make a "comeback" under the banner of Joe Pasternak.

Germans Claim 27 Planes Shot Down

BERLIN, July 20 (AP)—The German high command announced today 27 British planes were shot down yesterday.

The high command said German warplanes "successfully" attacked power works and harbor dock facilities in southern England and Scotland. Text of the communique:

"A U-boat reports sinking of 24,700 registered tons of enemy merchant shipping. Fighting air units successfully attacked power works, warehouses, harbor and dock facilities, reserve barracks and anti-aircraft positions in England and Scotland.

"Attacks were directed at warships and merchant shipping objectives off the south coast of England. One merchant ship of 5000 tons was sunk, three merchant ships and one destroyer were hit, some being severely damaged.

"Fifteen British chasers (pursuit planes) were shot down over the channel by Messerschmitt chasers during air fights without any losses to our forces.

"Enemy planes last night dropped bombs over north and western Germany. Several civilians were injured. Five British bombers were shot down, three by anti-aircraft fire and two by night chasers.

"Total enemy losses yesterday, 27 planes. Three of our own planes are missing."

British Fliers Blast Italian Air, Navy Bases

CAIRO, July 20 (AP)—An official Royal Air Force communique today stated:

"Mersa Matruh (western Egypt) and neighborhood were raided July 18 and 19. An enemy bomber crashed and caught fire. Five of the crew were killed and the wireless operator was taken prisoner.

"R. A. F. bombers raided El Gubbi (Libya) and five fires were started.

"Shipping to Tobruk (Libyan naval base) was bombed. Some direct hits were registered.

"In a raid on Neghelli airdrome by South African air force one incendiary bomb hit an enemy bomber, which burst into flames.

"A petrol dump was blown up and a building set alight.

"Agordat airdrome near Assab bay on the Red sea was raided. Three 9-81 planes on the ground were severely damaged and direct hits were made on hangars. When our aircraft left the whole area was obscured by smoke.

"Two raids also were carried out against nearby Macsaca airdrome.

"All of our aircraft returned without loss."

Italians Claim British Warship Also Sunk

ROME, July 20 (AP)—Italy today acknowledged loss of the cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni but claiming sinking a British warship in a three-hour naval battle in the middle Mediterranean yesterday. At the same time she declared Germany's attack on Britain was only "a question of days."

This word came from the authoritative Fascist weekly Relazioni Internazionali, which described Nazi air raids against England as merely a preliminary to a great naval operation.

"A certain time is necessary for extending military operation over England's territory," the weekly said. "The English may be more clever on defence than on attack . . . but this is a war of constant offensives, in which the initiative always is Germany's privilege."

Boston Couple Wins N. E. Bridge Battle

NEW LONDON, Ct., July 20 (AP)—Mrs. Frances W. Harding and Lawrence Weiss of Boston outscored a record field of 48 teams to win the mixed pair championship of the ninth annual Southern New England bridge tournament early today.

Second place went to one of the few husband-and-wife combinations in the event, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harris of Hartford. Mrs. Helen Tilley of Springfield and Arthur Rouillard of Chicopee Falls, Mass., were third.

GUEST — Brought from Europe aboard the U. S. cruiser Trenton, Prince Consort Felix (above) of Luxembourg and his six children today are guests at the Long Island estate of Joseph E. Davies, ex-ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg.

Prince to Live At Davies Home

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The Long Island home of former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies was being prepared today to receive Prince Consort Felix of Luxembourg and three or four of his six children on their arrival next week aboard the U. S. S. Trenton.

A member of the staff of Davies' Greenvale, L. I., home said Davies was at his Adirondacks camp. Davies resigned as ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg last January.

The Royal Family left Europe aboard the Trenton after their country was taken over by the Germans. The children will attend school here. Their mother, Grand Duchess Charlotte, also fled from Luxembourg, but is not expected to come to the United States at present.

Latvia Also Due To Join Red Union

BERLIN, July 20 (AP via Radio)—The German radio reported from Riga today the Latvian premier, Prof. Kirchenstein, spoke at a six-hour demonstration and urged union of Latvia with Soviet Russia.

The demonstrators exhibited posters which read: "Latvia is to join the Soviet Union as the 14th Soviet republic."

HULL SEES 20 NATIONS IN ACCORD

HAVANA, July 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull, returning to Cuba for the first time since he fought for the island's freedom in the Spanish-American war, expressed confidence today that Havana conference of American republics would demonstrate their "vigor and vitality" in working together "for their common interest."

The conference, which opens tomorrow, was called at the United States' suggestion after the Nazi invasion of the Low Countries to discuss Western Hemisphere defense and economy.

"We are meeting to discuss problems essential to the life of the Americas," Hull's statement said. "I have no doubt that this consultation will prove an added demonstration of the vigor and the vitality of American republics working together for their common interest."

In informal exchanges Hull hopes to smooth out some differences existing among the republics.

Delegates have expressed a hope he would produce a solution to the problem of bringing Argentina into line with her 20 sister republics. Argentina has frequently expressed unwillingness to co-operate an any plan which might imperil her trade relations with Europe's totalitarian states.

Rumors that Hull was bringing "secret" proposals from Washington were heard around the National Hotel, headquarters of most of the delegates, but were without confirmation.

The sessions will open tomorrow in Cuba's $18,000,000 Capitol with an address of welcome by the outgoing Cuban President, Federico Laredo Bru. At Monday's session Narcisco Garay, foreign minister of Panama, will reply for all the delegations.

Nazis Behead Woman Spy

BERLIN, July 20 (AP)—Maria Diecker, first woman to be executed in Germany since February, 1933, was beheaded today on conviction of spying for an unnamed foreign power.

A people's court held she was motivated by "avarice."

Freed, Sarah Palfrey Denies New Troth

RENO, Nev., July 20—Granted an uncontested divorce from Marshall Fabyan, Jr., Sarah Palfrey, Boston tennis star, today had the right to resume her maiden name.

Sarah firmly denied reports that she and Elwood Cook, former Davis Cup player, contemplated marriage.

POWDER THIEVES SEIZED

DUBLIN, July 20 (INS)—Six men were arrested today as police seized a motor lorry carrying four tons of stolen ammunition near Dublin.

BRITAIN DIGS CANAL TO ISOLATE GIBRALTAR

ALGECIRAS, Spain, July 20 (AP)—British forces at Gibraltar are digging a canal to isolate the fortress from the Spanish mainland and strengthen its defenses, it was learned here today.

The canal runs from the Mediterranean westward to Algeciras Bay, between the fortifications and the neutral zone, at which point the peninsula is about three quarters of a mile wide.

The garrison expects reinforcement in troops and more long-range guns.

(Stefani, Italian official news agency, reported today that Italian bombings of Gibraltar had led British authorities there to plan to send the battle cruiser Hood and aircraft carrier Ark Royal elsewhere as soon as possible.)

The reports added that civilians who had refused to comply with previous orders to leave Gibraltar now were ready to leave after official warning that "the Rock's" air raid shelters were not large enough to accommodate a large number of persons for weeks at a time in case of continuous attack.

NEW NAZI BLITZ NEARS, SPEEDS WAR ORPHAN AID

On the eve of the most brutal battle ever launched by man the pitiful plight of Europe's war orphans is eliciting new sympathy from New Englanders.

Letters coming to the editor of the American clearly show that the sad situation of refugee children is prompting many to offer their homes as refuge.

The desire to help is strong in those writing as their pleas, not requests, for children to either adopt or keep for the duration of the war demonstrate.

It is a magnificent work of charity and those who have not yet participated are asked to do so without further delay.

For some it will mean sacrifices to take these children. But what are sacrifices in comparison to the return obtained?

America, particularly New England, is the only safe haven the world offers today. Here peace and contentment will assuage the grieving children of Europe.

So do your bit. Write to the editor of the American today telling him how many children you can provide for. Send a letter like these from which the following excerpts are taken.

CHELSEA—"My husband and I have one child, a boy, and we would live to adopt a little Polish girl of about three or four. My husband has a good job and we are able to provide a decent home for her. We are hoping the red tape preventing them from coming here will be cut soon."

WALPOLE—"My wife and I would like to adopt a little boy from four to five years old. Either French or English. We have been married five years and have no children of our own. We will give him a good home and love him just as if he were our very own. We will do everything in our power to make him happy. We are both American citizens."

SAXONVILLE—"We have been talking about the poor orphan children of war. We would like very much to have a boy about 10 years old to adopt. English, or French if he can speak English, as we are both deaf and dumb. We would be a true mother and father to him and have him take our name if officials permit."

NEWPORT, R. I.—"My husband and I would be very happy to adopt a little French, English or Belgian boy not over two years old. We would rear this child as our own. It just breaks our hearts to think those poor innocent children are forced to suffer the loss of the parents and their homes."

SPRINGFIELD—"Your appeal for war orphans has been noted. And although 60 years of age, a mother and a grandmother, I want to do my part. I am now living much of the time alone in my own home and would do my best to give happiness to one little British lassie or laddie. I myself was born in England. My own children have homes of their own now, and at times I am very lonely."

BEAUTIFUL Virginia Vale appears in the cast supporting Lee Tracy in "Millionaires In Prison," RKO Radio drama opening next Thursday at the Boston.

Tracy Returns to Screen Thursday in Boston's Drama

The long-absent Lee Tracy returns to the RKO Boston screen on Thursday in "Millionaires in Prison," RKO Radio drama in which he is cast as a long-term convict who wields more authority with the prisoners than does the warden.

What happens when he seeks to control the lives of five rich men inmates provides the picture's climax.

Featured in the cast are Linda Hayes, Raymond Walburn, Morgan Conway, Truman Bradley, Virginia Vale, Cliff Edwards, Paul Guilfoyle, Thurston Hall and Chester Clute.

Partnered with "Millionaires in Prison" will be Universal's romantic Comedy-drama, "Black Diamonds," featuring Richard Arlen and Andy Devine.

Arlen plays an energetic young newspaperman in a small coal-mining town who determines to terminate the operation of a "death trap mine." Kathryn Adams, screen newcomer, and Mary Treen, comedienne, share romantic honors. Others are Paul Fix, Pat Flaherty, Maud Allen and Jim Morton.

Defer Comedy's Production

Not until "after sanity is restored to the world" will it be possible to produce the late Sidney Howard's "Madame Will You Walk?" and still do full credit to the dramatist's philosophic comedy. This was the decision of the Playwrights' Company at a conference the other day attended by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who was to have played the lead.

'Hellzapoppin' Has Attracted 1,500,000

More than 1,500,000 persons have seen "Hellzapoppin," the Olson- Johnson musical which opened here, and is now selling 10 weeks in advance on Broadway, with no sign of a let-up.

Hollywood Notes

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—The chief topic of conversation today was Warners' willingness to release Paul Muni, one of their top stars, and William Dieterle, one of their ace directors.

What does it mean? Are salaries going to be lowered and options not taken up? This is the third instance on the Warner lot. Pat O'Brien and Warners parted company—of course only temporarily. Shirley Temple's option was not taken up.

Whether or not this means that the talent in the top brackets will be challenged when option time comes around, nobody knows. I am inclined personally to think that neither Muni nor Dieterle need worry for they will probably have all they can do at the other studios. That also goes for many of the other favorites and directors.

Seems to me the femme contingent of the country have suddenly become Walter Pidgeon conscious. I can remember when Walter was just another actor or leading man if you will, but now the mail is filled with letters from gals who ask for some news of him. So today I got on my horse and rode out to Metro and asked "What about Walter?"

Here's the news: Walter will have the second male lead in "White Command." Bob Taylor, another handsome male who within the year has built himself a following, has the lead. Irving Asher is the producer and Frank Borzage will direct.

• • •

At least a year ago casting rumors were hot on "Mother Ravioli," at Warner Brothers. Fay Bainter, Judith Anderson and Gale Sondergaard were a few of the names discussed but in some way all plans fell through and I had supposed the picture was postponed indefinitely.

Today they told me at Warner Brothers that under the title "East of the River" this picture, rewritten, will go into production in two weeks with Marjorie Rambeau as the mother.

It is a story of two brothers and a mother who figures importantly. The two brothers will be played by John Garfield and William Lundigan. Marjorie ("Tug Boat Annie") must be good for as soon at it was previewed she was handed "Mother Ravioli."

Olivier All Set For 'Cyrano' Role

Laurence Olivier's schnozzola will be built up "just large enough to make him repulsively attractive." Variety reports in connection with the Alexander Korda's production plans for "Cyrano de Bergerac"

Vivian Leigh is to be co-starred with Olivier in the film, which Korda will direct from an adaptation prepared for him about a year ago by Ben Hecht.

• • •

It is possible that Charlie Chaplin may be among those to appear in the all-star all-British production to be made in Hollywood for the benefit of the British Red Cross, according to Sir Cedric Hardwicke. That is, he will do it if he can tear himself away from "The Dictator," upon which he is said to be putting the finishing touches, the talk that he will scrap it to the contrary.

Others scheduled for prominent roles in the production are Laurence Olivier, Vivien Leigh, Ronald Colman, Charles Laughton, Brian Aherne, Earle Oberon and Greer Garson.

• • •

There will be no lack of S. A., oomph or what-will-you in the forthcoming 20th Century-Fox production, "Brigham Young." Originally the script called for two helpmates, but following a sneak Hollywood preview 10 more wives have been added to the cast.

• • •

Remember pretty Sunnie O'Dea dancer and comedienne in "Keep Off the Grass?" She has been signed up by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer following a Broadway screen test.

• • •

The best-selling "Native Son" is being worked into a play by its author, Richard Wright and Paul Green, author of the Pulitzer winner, "In Abraham's Bosom" and other plays of Negro life. John Houseman, sponsor of the Mercury Theater with Orson Welles, is interested in producing the play. Others reported as interested in obtaining rights to the novel at various times are Eddie Dowling, Marc Connelly and Paul Robeson.

PATRICIA FARLEY is featured in "Narcotic," coming to the Gayety's screen tomorrow.

Armstrong Fight Film at Boston

Blow-by-blow pictures of the Armstrong-Jenkins ring battle are now unreeling on RKO Boston screen, where the week's film features are "Passport to Alcatraz" and "Dr. Christian Meets the Women."

Highlight of the film are the slow motion pictures of the important blows showing Armstrong, in the fourth round, battering his opponent to the canvas six times and winning by a technical knockout.

Gayety Bills 'Narcotic' Film

Gayety screen, starting tomorrow, is showing "Narcotic" film demonstrating the effects resulting from the use of various forms of dope.

The story is based on the character, Dr. Will Davis played by Harry Cording, a reputable physician who becomes a drug addict and inevitably loses reputation, a splendid practice and everything that gives life beauty and value.

Patricia Farley is cast as a vibrant, attractive girl who, through unfortunate associations, is initiated into the drug habit and becomes a bitter, despondent woman, old before her time.

Dwain Esper wrote the script.

The Gayety's second attraction, "The Lost Jungle," stars the celebrated circus animal tamer, Clyde Beatty, and his jungle cats Cecilia Parker supplies the glamour.

CLIMAXING a whirl of pre-wedding parties on the North Shore is the marriage today of Ruth Weyburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Weyburn of Rocklea, Prides Crossing, to Henry Seabury Parker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Parker of Hewlett, L. I., and New York city . . .

The wedding, at 4:30 in St. John's Church, Beverly Farms, is followed by a reception at Rocklea . . . Rev. Bradford Burnham of St. John's is assisted by Rev. George W. Wickersham, 3d, of Warwick, L. I., in performing the ceremony, and Mr. Weyburn is giving his daughter in marriage . . .

The petite, winsome bride, a popular member of the North Shore's younger set, has chosen an old fashioned bridal gown of white tulle with a full skirt and an heirloom lace veil which was worn by her mother and grandmother . . . Her bouquet is of lilies of the valley and stephanotis . . .

Twelve attendants, all gowned in white tulle with bands of ivy green on the skirts, wreaths of flowers in their hair and carrying bouquets of white larkspur and gypsophelia, are preceding the bride down the aisle . . . Marion Parker of Hewlett, L. I., is maid of honor; Mary Davis of Hamilton, flower girl, and the bridesmaids are Emily Rice, Joanna Hoyt, Rosemary Merrill, Lydia Cobb and Leslie Chase of Boston and the North Shore, Adrienne C. Anderson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Ruth Coffin, New York city; Grace Marie Fiske, Woodmere, L. I.; Mary S. Hale, Winnetka, Ill., and Pauline B. Herrick, Woodmere, L. I. . . .

Mrs. Weyburn is receiving in a gown of jade green chiffon and silk jersey adorned with jewelled clips of antique gold . . .

Neil Rices Entertain for Couple

RICHARD S. PARKER of Hewlett is best man and the large usher staff includes the Messrs. William B. Coburn, William B. Lovering and William Morris Stiger of Hewlett; David W. Stickney of Walpole, J. Burke Wilkinson of Lincoln, Clement Williamson, Darien, Ct.; Franklin Whitbeck, Bronxville, N. Y.; Duncan Stevenson, Babylon, L. I.; Henry D. Fairlie, Essex Falls, N. J.; Alfred L. Loomis, Jr., Tuxedo Park, N. Y.; John H. Howe, Manchester, N. H.; S. Brampton Parker, Jr., Cambridge, and Reed Anthony Weyburn, brother of the bride . . .

Pre-wedding parties include a dinner dance given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Neil W. Rice and their daughter Emily, in Hamilton . . . a luncheon today, given by Mr. and Mrs. John F. A. Davis of The Locusts, Hamilton, parents of the flower girl; a luncheon at which Mrs. Keith Merrill and her daughter, Rosemary, were hostesses, and a bridesmaids' luncheon at Rocklea . . .

The bride, a graduate of the Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., made her debut in 1938-39 and is a member of the Junior League . . . Mr. Parker attended Milton Academy and was graduated from Harvard in 1935 . . . He is a member of Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770 and Phoenix Clubs . . .

Weds in Grandmother's Gown

THE IVORY BROCADE GOWN which Jane Burgess is wearing this afternoon for her marriage to Richard Grant, Jr., is rich in sentiment . . . having been worn by her grandmother, Mary Turner Sargent, at her wedding ceremony which was performed in 1878 by the late Phillips Brooks . . .

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sargent Burgess of Wellesley Hills is having her sister, Mrs. Charles I. Weir, Jr., as matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Taft Olmstead of Waterbury, Ct., and Margaret Forsyth of Ben Avon, Pa., as bridesmaids . . .

The ceremony in St. Andrew's Church, Wellesley, is being followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents . . . Francis Howard Grant of Wellesley Hills is best man and the ushers are Lynn Kirtland of Exeter, N. H., and John W. Bristol of Montclair, N. J. . . .

The bride graduated from Wellesley College in 1936 and received her master's degree in 1939 . . . Mr. Grant, son of George R. Grant of Wellesley Hills, was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy and Williams College and is in business in Concord, N. H., where the couple will make their home.

Czech Benefit In Weston

The gaiety of folk dancing and singing on the green will be mingled with the seriousness of talks on international affairs by two distinguished Czechoslovak diplomats at the colorful garden party to be given tomorrow afternoon at the Weston home of Mrs. A. Lincoln Filene.

Proceeds of the affair, which is sponsored by the Czech National Alliance, will benefit the relief fund for refugee citizens and soldiers.

Among those who will attend with their house guests are Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Pierce of Wellesley Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Bradley of Cambridge, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dexter, Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anton and their three daughters, Miss Sarah Wambaugh of Cambridge, Mr. H. Dwight Hall of Winthrop, with a party of eight, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hane of Medford and many others.

Loring-Thurlow Ceremony Draws Socialites to Maine

Many Bostonians have journeyed to Fryeburg, Me., for the marriage this afternoon of Miss Elizabeth Harriet Thurlow of Fryeburg, to Hollis Dinsmore Loring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Loring, of Newton. The church ceremony is being followed by a reception at Ye Olde Inn in Fryeburg.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Thurlow, is wearing a gown of ivory satin, made on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline, full skirt and long sweeping train. Her tulle veil is fastened to a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms and she is carrying white orchids, lilies of the valley and roses in a shower bouquet.

Julia L. Billings of Brighton is maid of honor and the bridesmaids are Dorothea Brown, Attleboro; Aldith Sutton, Newton Centre; Charlotte Parker, Goffstown, N. H., and Mrs. John Thurlow, South Portland, Me.

Yellow net, with a small hat of starched yellow net with a crown of forget-me-nots, fashions the costume of the maid of honor, and the bridesmands' costumes are of similar style in Nile green.

Richard Parr of Somerville is best man and the ushers are Wendell Clark, Center Lovell, Me.; William Thurlow, Fryeburg; Dr Charles Thurlow, Phillips, Me., and Dr. John Thurlow, South Portland.

The bride's mother is wearing g aown of turquoise flowered chiffon with a leghorn hat and corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Loring's gown is of blue chiffon with a hat of matching blue velvet bows and an orchid corsage.

Following their honeymoon the bride and groom will live in Needham. Both are graduates of Fryeburg Academy.

North Shore Girls To Sell Flowers At Benefit

Mrs. Samuel Chamberlain and Mrs. Duncan Dana, co-chairmen of the American Friends of France benefit performance of "The Greeks Had a Word for It" at Marblehead next Thursday, have secured an attractive levy of girls to serve as flower and program vendors. Libby Holman is the star of the comedy which will be presented by the North Shore Players.

To allay fears that supplies sent to France will fall into unfriendly hands, Mrs. Robert W. Lovett of Boston announces that all food, clothing and medical supplies provided by the American Friends of France are now being sent to England. News has just been received of the arrival of a large shipment in London.

Carol Shepard, Betsy Bankart, Ruth LaCroix, Jeanne LaCroix, Cherry Hannah, Barbara Phippen, Anne Milspaugh, Betty Lovejoy and Harriet Butler are among the girls on the program and flower committees.

'Lap Lunches' Popular

By MARTHA LEE

THERE'S NOTHING like "lap lunches" when it comes to summertime eating. Meals that can be carried off to the backyard, the glider on the terrace, or eaten on the porch rail win first honors for popularity.

Even laps aren't essential equipment; the idea is to put the whole meal on one plate and go off with it to some secluded nook. Sandwiches, salad, cold cuts, relishes and the iced coffee fit nicely and compactly onto one capacious plate and—happy thought!—make for less dishwashing and fewer trips to refill.

The combination's the thing, so dish up your meal-on-a-dish into the laps of waiting guests. Try combinations like these one-plates.

COMBINATION I

Sliced Ready-Cooked Tongue
Slices of American or Swiss Cheese
Mixed Greens Salad
Pineapple Bran Muffins
Iced Coffee

PINEAPPLE BRAN MUFFINS

¼ cup fat
2 tbsp. sugar
1 egg
1-3 cup honey
1 cup all-bran
½ cup drained crushed pineapple
¾ cup milk
2 cups flour
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. baking powder

Cream fat and sugar thoroughly. Add egg, beat with rotary beater until creamy. Add honey, all-bran, pineapple and milk; mix well. Sift flour with salt, soda and baking powder; add to first mixture stirring only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 2 doz. small muffins (2 inches in diameter).

COMBINATION II

Peanut Butter and Bacon Sandwiches
Radishes, Olives, Sweet Pickles
Cole Slaw with Brazil Nuts
Iced Coffee

PEANUT BUTTER AND BACON SANDWICHES

½ cup peanut butter
1-3 cup milk (about)
1-8 tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup mayonnaise
8 slices cooked bacon, crumbled

Place peanut butter, 1-3 cup milk, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce in bowl. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add mayonnaise; blend. Add more milk until right consistency to spread. Add bacon. Makes about 2-3 cup filling.

COMBINATION III

Broiled Bananas and Bacon
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Date Cakes
Iced Coffee Nog

BROILED BANANAS AND BACON

3 firm bananas
6 strips bacon

Use all-yellow slightly green-tipped bananas. Peel bananas and cut cross-wise into halves. Wrap a strip of bacon, spiral-fashion, around each piece, fastening ends of bacon with toothpicks. Place on broiler rack about 5 inches below heat. Broil 5 minutes. Turn and broil 5 minutes longer, or until bacon is crisp and bananas are tender (easily pierced with a fork). Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Manners

Second Marriage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

1—I am forty years of age and am being married for the second time. I have not lived very long in the place where I now live, and have no relatives and only a few friends here. My husband-to-be has quite a few friends here. We are, of course, having an informal wedding, and I want to know how our invitations should be printed.

2—Is it proper to have a bride's cake at such an informal wedding?

ESTHER.

1—For this informal wedding, it is inappropriate to have formal engraved invitations. Invite the guests by word of mouth, or notes of invitation.

2—Yes.

Danceable Frock You Can Make

IF YOU'D be the brightest star of the evening scene . . . on a budget plan . . . if you want a frock that's sophisticated to see, yet simple to make . . . here's what you've been looking for. It's one of the best designs in the Marian Martin pattern line-up, a popular feature on this page. It can be your dance frock, on easy sewing terms. Pattern is 9377, to be obtained from our pattern department. Instructions on sending for it may be obtained in the Marian Martin feature. —ANNICE BRINK.

Paint Richly Colored Pictures

Lovely as a French print is "Sunflowers and Zinnias." A thrill to realize you can paint it yourself in lovely flower colors on glass—in its actual size, 9 by 12 inches.

You simply lay a piece of glass over a printed pattern and paint over its shaded parts, which are plainly visible through the glass. And by this same method you can paint other subjects, too.

In the flower picture shown, the zinnias are bright red and red-purple, the sunflowers are a brilliant yellow with brown centers. For the leaves use shades of green and, for the bowl, Delft blue.

Using only three inexpensive tubes of oil paint—red, blue and yellow—you can mix any color. To make red-purple, for instance, you add a little blue to red. For lighter tones, you add white household enamel; for darker tones, black household enamel.

To give a lovely background to your painting, slip a piece of metallic paper behind the glass when the paint is dry. Then frame your picture, painted side in, and hang in a place of honor in your home!

Other just as lovely designs—romantic scenes of Old World and New, landscapes and seascapes—are given in our set, six pictures to paint on glass. These designs, each 9 by 12 inches, include "Treasure Ships at Sea," "Skyscrapers," "Poplars by the River," "Fishing Village," "Sunflowers and Zinnias," and "Old Windmill." Simple directions show how to mix and apply colors, give colors for each design.

Send 15c in coins for our set of six pictures to paint on glass to Boston Evening American Home Institute, 109 West 39th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of picture set.

Put glass over design.

'Beauty Clipper' Ideal For Vacation Make-Up

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN your other vacationing friends dive frantically into luggage, looking for this or that jar, tumbling in the littered depths . . . you'll have your moment of triumph . . . for all your cosmetics will stand neatly ready, in a small compact ice-blue box that is a wonderful idea as well as a wonderful beauty buy for busy folk.

So streamlined and space-economical is the idea that Pan-American Airways have called it the "Beauty Clipper," and it's used on her ships.

For $1.50 you get six items, all of finest quality, and they take care of all your beauty wants . . . leisurely, thorough make-ups made possible in the most cramped quarters, quick clean-ups that revive your spirits and looks at the same time . . . and all the essentials for beautifying as you sleep.

There is a cream to be used for cleansing or night treatment, satisfyingly rich, there's a dew-like skin freshener for dry complexions, a camellia-textured face powder, make-up base, cream rouge and lipstick! Everything in generous quantity.

You'll find the make-up base particularly unusual . . . though it has softening, protective oils, it's non-greasy . . . and we think it has an enchanting fragrance.

If you'd like to learn about this remarkable "Beauty Clipper," with six essential make-up aids for $1.50, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, including a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Love and Marriage

He Never Takes Her Out

DEAR MISS. FAIRFAX:

I'm 18 years of age and going "steady" with a young man of 24 for over a year. He says he loves me, and I think a great deal of him. But the trouble is he expects to sit around the house every time he comes to see me.

The only places he has ever taken me have been three movies and three or four dances. Some evenings we go for a ride in his car. Now, I wouldn't insist that he take me out every time he comes over, but don't you think a boy should take his girl out at least once a month? That would be enough for me.

If he were out of work and couldn't afford to take me I wouldn't mind one bit. But he's a college graduate and has a good profession. He doesn't want me to go out with anyone else. Do you think I should continue to stay in?

J. G.

Who wouldn't get bored sitting home these hot summer evenings? As the young man has a good profession it can't be lack of money that's making him so house-bound, unless he's inclined to be a bit close.

Perhaps he doesn't realize how it bores you to stay at home all the time. You might try him with, "It's a beautiful evening; wouldn't you like to go somewhere?"

Another girl who had your experience told me she "yawned the parlor pet out." After 10 or 15 minutes she began to stifle yawns, which finally become contagious and he'd begin to yawn. In sheer defense he'd ask her to go somewhere. But please, girls, don't try this on a young man if he's unemployed.

THE COUNTRY at large was hardly aware of the fact the other day that a critical labor dispute had arisen in the railroad industry.

Thirty thousand railroad clerks and their employers had failed to reach agreement over a demand for a shorter work-week, and a strike date was set.

In almost any other important industry, that situation would probably have resulted in a costly conflict.

But not in the railroad industry.

Under the sensible terms of the Railway Labor Act, the President of the United States was promptly informed of the situation by the National Mediation Board, and he thereupon appointed a three-member fact-finding board to investigate, and thus the status of the dispute remains unchanged for sixty days.

In the meantime, the vital rail transport facilities of the nation are undisturbed, the workers keep on working and drawing wages, and the public continues to be served without interruption.

IT IS WELL understood, of course, that this procedure does not settle the issue, and is no guarantee against an eventual strike.

But since the Railway Labor Act has been in effect, the railroad industry almost never runs the full course of negotiation without reaching a peaceable and satisfactory adjustment of labor disputes, and in consequence there has been a complete absence of railroad strikes in recent years.

There is every reason to expect the present dispute between the clerks and the railroads will be as intelligently ironed out.

Nobody can review these facts without wondering why ALL labor troubles in all important American industries are not as sensibly handled.

Why is it ever necessary to have strikes in American industry, at least without exhausting the opportunities for peaceful settlement in the manner the railroads and their workers patiently and patriotically do?

Why is there not similar provision for mediation and fact-finding in our OTHER important industries as well as in the railroad industry?

Would not the American maritime industries and their workers be infinitely better off today, if they had been able to settle their issues without strikes as the railroads settle them?

No industry can afford strikes.

No worker can afford them.

Certainly the general public can afford them least of all.

SINCE IT has been possible, and eminently satisfactory and profitable, and apparently fair and equitable, to enact labor legislation for the railroads which seems to make strikes unnecessary, why are not the same wise principles applicable to every type of employment?

It is one of the glaring and inexcusable weaknesses of American democratic life that we have not been able to find a way of solving labor troubles without recourse to violence and destruction.

But of course there is such a way, as the Railway Labor Act attests.

Our trouble is that we do not do universally what is being so well done in the case of the railroads.

Eventually, all American employers and workers will get around the conference table with their troubles and, failing of agreement there, will find acceptable and mandatory decisions through the medium of fair, honest and probably compulsory arbitration.

WELCOME SAILORS! Make yourselves right at home.

It's a pleasure to have you with us. You are the first group of summer-cruising Annapolis midshipmen ever to drop anchor in Boston harbor.

You will like it here. For you're going to find out what real Yankee hospitality can do to make all 1200 of you happy.

As you know, Boston is mighty proud of its sea traditions. And there are plenty of them.

AT THE Navy Yard you will find things humming. New ships for you and yours are on the ways.

Mark them well and remember they are being built in the tradition of the Constitution whose name you revere.

Yankee workmen are turning out the finest for the finest sailors that ever sailed the Seven Seas.

Again, welcome sailors. And if you don't find exactly what you need just speak up. We'll see to it that it's yours.

MAN spends three cents to tell me reason I don't like chess is because I have no brains. So that's it. In a way, this is very discouraging news. But on the other hand if you have too much brains you get headaches. Anyway, I think I should stick up for myself a little. I might say about my brains or lack of same something similar to what Eva Tanguay used to sing about her face, to wit:

My face may be funny
But it's getting me the money
So I don't care!

GALE LEVANT, the beautiful, smartly attired, intelligent wife of Oscar Levant, ask me another expert, passes by. You will probably find a lot of these men hiding and fishing around the Wisconsin lakes. And, listen, stick to Wisconsin where the husband hunting is good. You may even find a footloose fellow who owns a dairy farm. In Pennsylvania are 48,649 more women than men. In Massachusetts the excess females number 72,788. In New York there are 66,184 more of the feminine or alleged "weaker sex" than of the male or so called "stronger sex" . . . CAROLE LOMBARD'S BEAUTY SAVED BY SURGEON
Her Experience Cheer for Dancer Renee de Marco

DANCER RENEE DE MARCO'S face was cut in a plane accident and fear is expressed she will be disfigured. I doubt it. Facial surgeons are too skillful for that nowadays. Carole Lombard was once badly injured in an automobile accident and a facial surgeon not only saved her from being disfigured but made her more beautiful than she was originally . . . If you teach your child politeness and courtesy you are giving him something that may in later years be worth thousands of dollars to him. Courtesy contributes to a pleasing personality. A pleasing personality means more earning power. Mention this because I have noticed quite a few kids are extremely impolite and discourteous . . . "You ask was anybody married on the 13th of the month—and what luck did they have in the after years" writes a feminine client. "I was married on July 13, 1929. What luck did I have? Terrible. Am now divorced. I will never have any of my future marriages take place on the 13th of the month."

-:- MY DAY -:-

HYDE PARK, July 20—Since I wrote my last column, I have travelled a good many miles. I cannot say that I was sorry to see my little cottage yesterday.

According to the schedule, Franklin, Jr., and I met at La Guardia Field Thursday afternoon.

Mr. C. R. Smith, president of the American Airlines, had very kindly sent a small airplane to take me from New Hackensack, New York, to New York city, and I must record the thrilling experience of actually being allowed to fly the little ship for part of the trip down while in the air. It was so smooth that there was no difficulty in keeping it on an even keel.

I have always wanted to learn to fly a plane and even this small experience was exciting.

OUR TRIP to Chicago was smooth and uneventful. The postmaster-general, Mr. Farley, was kind enough to meet me at the airport. Before I left it, I had an interview with some of the newspaper people. We couldn't induce Mr. Smith to go to the convention with us, so Mr. Farley, Franklin, Jr., and I were the only ones who drove to the Stevens Hotel.

We spent a short time there and many photographs were taken. Then we went directly to the convention hall. The atmosphere there was much like the atmosphere one always finds on these occasions. Everybody was very busy, very troubled or very elated about one thing or another.

To me there is something very contagious about the friendly atmosphere brought about by meeting old friends. I was so glad to see them from all parts of the country. I like my fellow Democrats from wherever they may come. We may think differently on certain subjects but, taken by and large, there is a bond of real friendliness.

I was delighted when Mrs. Henry Wallace arrived to sit beside me. We watched the balloting which put the secretary over as vice-presidential candidate.

Secretary Wallace is a very fine person and I am sure will strengthen the ticket. I have always felt in him a certain shyness and that has kept him aloof from some Democrats, but now that he will be in close touch with so many of them, I am sure they will soon find in him much to admire and love.

Somehow I cannot feel this campaign is going to be in any way the type of campaign we connect with the routine of choosing a President every four years.

Whatever the people decide in November, I hope it will be done with the realization of the critical times we are living in. Above everything else, that any candidate, or any President, in these times, is powerless without the active participation of every citizen in working out the internal problems of this nation and their relationship to world problems.

NOMINATION COSTS F. D. R., JR. $5

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, July 20—The nomination of President Roosevelt cost his son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., at least $5. Two months ago, when F. D., Jr., stated that he didn't believe his father would run for a third term I dissented—and we made the $5 bet . . . Al Jolson was hurt in Chicago Wednesday, but won't close the show—although he'll have to use crutches. Ruby Keeler has delivered her two-week notice, although she has a run-of-the-play contract . . . Jim Braddock is resuming his training, and will issue a challenge to Jack Dempsey . . . Lord Beaverbrook wrote to Dick Merrill, indicating that the flier's services would be welcomed in London. Merrill was eager to accept, but an aviation official here ruled against it.

LAST YEAR Leila Gaynes, of the 18 Club, was a passenger in an auto which cracked up. Her jaw was fractured, her face was disfigured—but she survived, and plastic surgery helped restore her face to the pretty contours it always has had . . . Her suit for damages, resulting from the auto smashup, was finally settled for $7500 . . . Leila paid her medical bills, lawyer's fees, bought some clothes, and with the balance of the money she purchased the one thing she always had wanted—a car for herself . . . Driving that car, last week, she was in another smashup, in Warwick, N. Y. Two of the passengers were killed. And Leila, her face again disfigured, is in the Warwick Hospital . . . Lady Mendl lunched at the Colony and brought two of her dogs inside, to be seated next to her, against the wall. When the management protested Lady Mendl declared: "I was invited, and so were my dogs. If they don't stay to be served neither will I." They were served . . . For the first time since Henry Armstrong has been fighting, Al Jolson didn't bet on him, in Wednesday night's bout.

WHETHER BOSTON WILL BE REPRESENTED in the American Professional Football League depends largely on developments of today . . . Wally Fenton, the efficient young New Yorker who acquired the local franchise after the Boston team fell upon hard-going, is in town . . . Paul Thurlow, the Cape Cod steamship mogul, holds more than a rooting interest in the organization too . . . The league meeting is being held today in Cleveland, but the embryonic Boston organization—in process of choosing desirable investors from a covey of citizens reported interested in taking a gamble—will participate by the medium of the telephone.

IT'S AN UNUSUAL TWIST to an important meeting, this method of keeping in touch with proceedings, casting votes, making decisions by long distance, and is a considerable improvement, in the eyes of the Boston franchise-holders, over the proxy method . . . It's a fifty-fifty chance that Boston will have an American League team, but even if the city's entrance into the organization as an active representative is postponed, a year, the franchise remains very real entity, and has the right to participate in the league's deliberations.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: A good-neighbor policy will be urged on Bette Davis, the filum's No. 1 actress, when she arrives in her New Hampshire acres next week . . . Business thus far has been no more than fair to middlin' in the White Mountains section . . . Bette will be asked to have her picture taken riding the famous Cog Railway . . . And this brings up an interesting point . . . Like other movie stars, Miss Davis was compelled to sign a release for her producer (Warners) before coming East . . . There's a union rule that any press-agent stunts entitle the actor to full pay while said stunts are being perpetuated on an unsuspecting public . . . Warners naturally do not wish to receive a bill from Miss Davis for services rendered—not that this is probable—at her pro-rata wage while vacationing in the East, in event that she succumbs to appeals for co-operation in publicizing herself or an outside adventure . . . Interviews come under the same union regulations, and Bette is expected to put herself at the disposal of authorized reporters in this, her native section.

HERBERT MARSH'S ORCHESTRA is playing in the "Moon Room" of the Mount Washington Hotel, and Irmgard, a devoted admirer of the band leader, is the vocalist . . . AT THE NEARBY LATIN QUARTER, natives and tourists alike were fascinated by a ballerina, Carol King, whom Manager Lou Walters, mayhap a bit extravagantly, insists is "one of the best ever in New England" . . .

COOPER, LAUGHTON MAY CO-STAR

By Louella O. Parsons

Gary Cooper

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—A little scouting reveals that Phil Berg has just sold Paramount "The Captain from Connecticut," by C. S. Forrester. Remember Forrester is the author of the much publicized "Captain Hornblower" series which are to be filmed by Warners. Para grabbed the latest Hornblower novel from the galley proofs and 'tis said the price paid is in the neighborhood of $50,000. Not bad for an unpublished work.

"The Captain from Connecticut" is laid in 1812 in Martinique, the island so much in the news now, and the leading characters are two sea captains—one American and the other British. The American falls in love with the governor's daughter while the Britisher pays court to his excellency's sister. Y. Frank Freeman can only see Gary Cooper as the Yankee Doodle boy and Charlie Laughton as Johnny Bull. Whether or not Y. Frank gets these two popular movie favorites is another question.. But you can't be shot for trying.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

DUANE gripped the arms of his chair as he realized the awful truth. For weeks he had shuddered at the possibility of ever being involved in a situation such as this. What would Irene think? Even now she must know that he had failed her.

Beads of sweat formed on his brow as he tried to find a way out of his dilemma. He raised eyes, filled with fear, at the determined man who waited for his answer.

"Come! Come! Please answer my question," the anxious person demanded.

THE THOUGHT of the unfairness of the question sent shivers up and down the scared man's spine. The eyes of every one in the room were on him.

In the not too distant past he would have been in a position to answer this question without hesitation. However, the ravages of time now made this impossible. He had been warned by his wife and his friends that his greed would eventually get him in trouble and they were right.

The success of his many other attempts had given him an unquenchable thirst for easy money. It was this thirst that was responsible for his present uncomfortable position.

"For the last time, sir, will you tell me where the person in question was on Dec. 25. It is imperative that you give me this information or else—" The gentleman was getting impatient.

DUANE LOOKED up sheepishly at the steel grey eyes. Nothing he saw there gav him any hint of a way out. He must face the consequences. How would he ever face Irene? He swallowed with difficulty, then with a weak, discouraged voice he muttered. "I cannot tell you, sir."

Instantly there was a drone of whispering voices as persons turned to their friends to remark on the exhibition. The man who had been questioning Duane, held up his hands for silence.

When the tumult had died down he said in a clear, distinct manner, "I regret that you are unable to supply the desired information. However, I am sure that there is some one in this room who can." His attention was caught by an elderly woman who nodded approval.

All eyes focused on him as he made his way to her.

"Can you tell me, madame," he said, handing her a portable microphone, "where Washington was on Dec. 25, 1778? Omph Girl Soap is giving ten silver dollars for the correct answer.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

THEY ARE going to have an Aquatennial in Minneapolis between July 20 and 28. Swimming, diving, racing and various other sports.

I think it's a great idea. If there's one thing we Americans need above all others in this present crisis it is TO KEEP COOL. Cool in mind as well as body.

In danger? Of course we are. But what most of us don't realize is that we've been in danger for the last thirty years. We've been in danger ever since American life ceased being hard and monotonous and began to be soft and exciting. And you can't cure a condition like that by a spasm of hysteria.

WE'VE TAKEN things too easy since machines came in. We've become too soft and petulant. Our minds as well as our bodies have become flabby. We've forgotten the hard, tough ways of our fathers.

We've forgotten these trials and tests which were once the makings of America . . . which gave the tone to the American character. We've forgotten how to be hard—and proud of hardness. We've forgotten how to be lean and swift and tough in mind and body. And we've lost a tragic lot by forgetting.

That's why I'm strong for that Aquatennial at Minneapolis. It isn't a lot of commercial glitter and gush and go-getem. It's a return to the fundamental pattern and principles of the American life and character. It'll take the lard off our minds and spirits as well as our waistlines. It'll make us remember how and why we become a land of free, proud souls . . . and what that pride and freedom cost in self-control and discipline.

IF I HAD a youngster within reach of Minnneapolis, I'd take him or her to that Aquatennial. And I'd say:

"Look, kid—here's how we started. Here's what made us what we used to be—but have forgotten how to be. These aren't just 'stunts' . . . smart publicity. They are the result of long hours of training . . . rigorous discipline . . . self-control and sacrifice . . . hard work and spunk.

"Don't worry about the war just yet. The war isn't our biggest trouble. We ourselves are our biggest trouble . . . our own weakness and softness and laziness, that's our most immediate and pressing problem. And unless we can conquer that problem we're going to be licked, even if a Nazi never shows his head. So keep cool, kid—AND DO A JOB ON YOURSELF!"

Between Fellers

VONNY DOYLE, who danced all evening in one of the town's musical hits, was dressing to dance all night at a party. She and the ingenue of her show had been invited out for supper at a night club. All cafe society would be there.

VONNY, embryonic star who longs for the bright lights.
JOE, who loves Vonny.

Silk Stocking Sal

By Hollis Starnes

Vonny sat before the makeup shelf in her tiny dressing-room, a smeared white terry robe around her slender form, and a Turkish towel encasing her black curls. A slim, redhaired young man, with friendly blue eyes but a firm jaw, lolled against the far end of the shelf by the door. There was only one chair in the box-like little room, and Vonny was in it.

"I wish I'd known," said the redhaired boy, "you were going out tonight with the gaudy rich. I'd have saved myself a ten block hike."

"I didn't know myself till after the second act," the girl told him. "The boy that's taking Gloria told her to bring a friend."

"Blind date, eh?" Vonny saw the jaw set sternly. "Better watch your step."

"You always have the worst ideas about everything, Joe. This is going to be a great big party with lords of people there."

"Plenty to eat and drink," said Joe. "Specially drink."

"This is still a free country," Vonny said with spirit. "You don't have to drink if you don't want to. Wasn't it luck I had my white evening dress here, just back from the cleaner's? And Gloria loaned me a wrap."

Joe glanced toward the white fur jacket she indicated. "A few more petting parties with the playboys," he said, "and you'll probably get one of those too."

Vonny lost her temper. "I resent that," she said hotly. "I've never been on a petting party in my life and you know it. You've no right to insinuate such things about Gloria either. If I ever get a fur coat it will be with my own money, Joe Neilan!"

"I take back that last remark," the boy said contritely. "I've got a grouch tonight—been pounding the pavements since eleven a. m., the 'No Casting' sign waved over every office door. Gee, Von, are you making up for a movie test?"

She threw down the rabbit's foot she had been wielding. "I should say you have a grouch!" she cried. "How can I look like anything but a hag, with you standing there criticising everything I do, and telling me depressing stories?"

Joe whistled. "So it's depressing for Her Highness to hear of a job hunt! Six months ago it was a different story. But did I ever squawk?"

"No," she admitted, "I don't suppose you ever did. But that's all you ever think about anyway—show business. A person's in a show, they're out of a show. Your mind can't take in anything beyond Broadway. To me it's just a means to an end."

SUITOR IS BITTER

"What end?" he asked bitterly. "Some society playboy gives you a rush when you're in a hit show. But next year when you're back pounding the pavements—"

"Joe Neilan," Vonny turned on him angrily, "I wish you'd go home with your grouch. You're jealous because I'm working this year and you're not, and because I'm going out tonight to meet some people and have some fun.

"I won't be pounding the pavements next year either, because I'm going on the road with this show. After that the management is going to feature me in a new show—and then watch me. Nobody or nothing's going to stop me!"

"If nothing or nobody means me," said the boy, "I can take a hint." And he was out the door before she could answer back.

Her evening dress and slippers were on when she heard a faint rap on her door. It wasn't time for the car to arrive. Joe must have calmed down, she thought. He would apologize for what he had said; redheads were that way. He'd been in love with her since she got her first chorus job three years ago. He was specialty dancer in the show, and had taught her all she knew. She was grateful to him; she had even felt that she loved him. But this year, with her making good in a hit, and him jobless, they had begun to quarrel. He was proud, and it hurt him not to be able to take her places. He was jealous, and didn't like her going out with anyone else. Still, Joe Neilan was the squarest, most generous, sweetest boy she had ever known. The greatest dancer, too.

The rap on the door was repeated, and she decided to surprise him by opening it herself. As she swung it back and cried "Boo!" she beheld not a penitent suitor but a little old woman, poorly dressed, carrying a shabby valise. Her hair was white, and her skin withered and pale. "It's just Sal," said the old woman in her strange, husky voice.

Silk Stocking Sal! Ever since Vonny had been in show business, this old pedler had been plying her wares backstage. All the girls bought stockings from her when she came, though they could get them for half the price at any of the shops. But Sal, the legend ran, used to be in show business herself; and show people have ever felt their first duty to be toward their own.

"Oh, Sal!" Vonny greeted her. "Come in, honey. I thought it was somebody else."

"Young Joe Neilan, eh? I passed him out there. He's the image of his grandfather. We were together in a company once."

"Joe's mad," said Vonny.

Sal looked at the girl's party clothes. "Going out, eh?" she said, "but not with Joe."

"It's not working," explained Vonny. "He can't afford to take me out now, and I get sick of a sandwich every night at the Automat. After all, you're only young once, Sal—and you're not always in a hit."

SAL DEFENDS JOE

"You said it," Sal agreed. She was opening her satchel, to display her line of "sheer hosiery in the newest shades." "And you can always have a big time when you're in a hit, Vonny. But Joe Neilan looks to me like if he cared for a girl, she could be in a flop or in no show at all—and he'd stick. He'd probably stake her if she needed it."

"He would," declared Vonny loyally. "He has, Sal. This is my first break. I've had awful ups and downs ever since I met him."

"Then is this—" Sal's gesture took in Vonny's party regalia—"worth the risk of losing him?"

"I don't think I'll lose him as easy as that," said the girl lightly. She glanced at her watch. "Sal, let's see what you've got in your sox kit. The car will be here for me any minute."

"Won't take a shake," said Sal, "to pick out what you want, honey. While you're picking, I'll be tell you a story. It's a sort of a sermon, Vonny."

The young gal giggled. "Spill your sermon, Sal," she said. "But this is a perfectly respectable party I'm going to, so I don't think I should cater to his jealousy."

"That's just how another girl felt once," Sal began. "She was a lot like you, Vonny, and the fellow was like your Joe. She began in the chorus, too, and he was starting himself. His folks were well known show folks, and he began teaching the girl song and dance routines."

"Just like Joe!" exclaimed Vonny.

"He wanted to work up so they could have their own act in vaudeville," the old woman went on. "The girl was wild about him, but she wanted a good time, too. When the show went on the road she left with it, but he stayed behind—wanted to get out of the chorus so he could support a wife.

"In Chicago the girl started going out to parties. They were respectable too—at first. But one thing led to another, one drink led to another. When she got back to New York she was sporting pearls and a fur coat. She had a row with her boy friend. Later she became the toast of the town—but at a price.

"Now she's old Sal. Silk Stocking Sal! A few years of good times, then down, down, down to the gutter. Friends in show business finally helped me to earn my keep like this."

Vonny gently put the old woman in her chair. "I'm so sorry," she said.

"That's the end of my sermon," said Sal huskily, and dried her eyes. "I certainly spilled it, like you said!"

"I'll always remember," said Vonny. "I'll be nicer to Joe."

There was a brisk knock at the door. "It's the car," the girl said. "I wish I wasn't going." But it was Joe Neilan.

"Darling!" cried Vonny. "Just wait while I change my dress. I've got a surprise for you, and we're taking her for a sandwich. Somebody that knew your grandfather!"

"Somebody," murmured old Sal softly, "that almost was your grandmother." But the young pair, locked in a doorway embrace, did not hear her.

THE END

The young girl giggled "Spill your sermon Sal," she said.

HISTORIC SPOTS ON VT. TRIP

Fred Hamlin, manager of the Boston Auto Club and J. Leo Sugrue, Automobile Editor of the Boston Evening American in testing the ninth trip of the summer series covered 330 miles in their Packard test car.

This attractive long week-end vacation trip incorporating the Monadnock Region in southern New Hampshire, the famous Molly Stark Trail, from Brattleboro to Bennington, with its famous views from the heights of Hogback Mountain, Pittsfield and the beautiful Berkshire Trail.

The drive is outstanding because of its scenery, and has innumerable attractive stopping places, interesting little towns with a world of historic background

We left Harvard Bridge on No. 2 through Arlington north on Route 4 too Chelmsford to continue on No. 3 into Nashua, then No. 101A to Milford, 101 to Keene, No. 9 through Brattleboro to Bennington, south on No. 7 to Pittsfield east in Massachusetts on No. 9 to Boston.

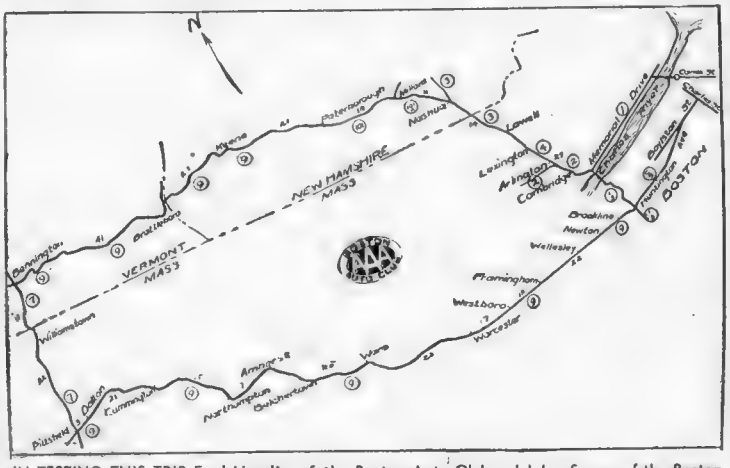
Among the outstanding towns, it seems that the beautiful historic Bennington, surrounded by those green mountains of Vermont and its location in Williamsie Valley is one of the most impressive.

Bennington unquestionably rates its rank as one of its cradles of American liberty. Its historical background attracts tourists from all parts of the country. However, to those just wishing a change will come an inspiration from the lofty hills and ever changing views of mountain and valley

Among the points of interest to be seen is the Stone House which was constructed in 1835. It is entirely built of Vermont blue stone. The house is in very fine condition, is beautifully furnished and open to visitors.

The highest naval monument in the world, 302 feet, Old Covered Bridge, Bennington College and Old First Church are other points well worth visiting

Trip No. 9 Covers 330 Miles of Historical Territory



IN TESTING THIS TRIP Fred Hamlin of the Boston Auto Club and J. Leo Sugrue of the Boston Evening American found it outstanding becausa of its scenery and educational because of its historical background.

Auto Sales Up 23 Per Cent

DETROIT, Mich., July 20—Motor vehicle factory sales in the first six months this year showed a 23 per cent gain over the corresponding period of last year, according to estimates by the Automobile Manufacturers Association. Production totaled 2,525,774 units in the half year just completed.

Every month so far has shown an increase over comparable 1939 months. Factory sales in June this year totaled 348,900 units, 8 per cent above June, 1939. Last month's showing was 15 per cent under May, due to the usual seasonal factors.

Plymouth Names Bayne General Sales Manager

DETROIT, July 20—Joseph E. Bayne was named general sales manager of Plymouth to succeed Lee D. Cosart, following the announcement that Cosart has been appointed sales manager of the truck division of Dodge. This last promotion was left vacant by the resignation of Tom W. Moss

Lee D. Cosart

During the past year Bayne has been assistant sales manager of Plymouth under Cosart.

Previously he had been director of sales in the Chrysler sales division and previous to that president of the Chrysler-Detroit Co. Bayne formerly was a reporter on the Detroit Times and Detroit News.

Cosart returning to Dodge, with which he started in Chicago in 1926. He remained with Dodge continuously in executive sales capacities in the field and at the factory, until his appointment 2½ years ago as Plymouth assistant sales manager.

Jos. E. Bayne

In addition to sales work at the Dodge and Plymouth home offices his experiences includes the direction of Dodge district and regional sales organizations in Washington Greensboro, Atlanta, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago.

Nash Dealers and Salesmen Awarded Prizes at Banquet

A banquet at the Hotel Statler Wednesday brought to an end an all-day jamboree for 200 dealers and salesmen affiliated with the Nash New England Co., distributors for Nash automobiles, which was in celebration of the splendid job done by the New England organization in a widespread sales contest which ended July 10.

Fred C. Sibley, president of the company, presided at the banquet, the special feature of which was the presentation of merchandise prizes to the following Nash dealers and salesmen who held leading positions in the sales contest:

H. W. Alexander, Springfield; Benjamin Cohn, J. R. Johnson, Jack Waldimer, Hartford, Ct.; Frank Chandler, Worcester; Carl Pearson, R. R. Graves, Providence; R. W. Tillotson, Mansfield; A. L. Calcone, Milford, D. C. Graves, Newton Center; J. F. Finnegan, Boston; Hermand Dumais, Woonsocket; S. Angelowitch, Bristol, Ct.; C. A. Stevens, Northampton; Guy Fairfield, Keene, N. H.; E. E. Bailey, Lafayette, R. R.; Nelson Remick, Bangor; Harry Thiele, Pawtucket; Frank Rafferty, Bangor; C. Toof, Barton, Vt.; S. Fine, Brockton; Edward Medika, Ludlow, Vt.; Daniel A. Johnson, Lynn; Irving Baker, Portland; Frank Peinaude, Burlington; C. B. Lowe, Framingham; H. E. Danforth, Madison, Me.; W. H. Hanlon, Allston; M. C. Handy, Athol; D. M. Hamilton, Ellsworth; E. R. McCue, Portsmouth, N. H.

The day's activities began with a luncheon served at the headquarters of the company on Commonwealth avenue. Afterward the group was taken in special buses to Fenway Park, where they witnessed the double-header between the Red Sox and Detroit Tigers. After the game a special police escort was provided to the Hotel Statler for the banquet and entertainment. The entire program was under the direction of W. E. Verrall, merchandising manager.

SHRINES FIRE LOVE OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20—With millions of motorists either now on the move or planning their tours for "Travel America Year," the American Automobile Association strongly urges that visits to one or more of the country's great national shrines be included.

Thos. P. Henry of Detroit, president of the national motoring body, pointed out that the new national defense program had everything to gain and nothing to lose from closer contacts by the people with the great landmarks of American history.

"A splendid way to revive and strengthen the personal sense of patriotism is to visit one or several of our national historic parks, battlefields, and monuments," he said. "Visitors to the scenes of the hardships and triumphs of our forebears never fail to experience a surge of pride in our accomplishments, and a feeling of thankfulness that they are permitted to carry on and protect the principles of justice and freedom which are the foundation of the nation.

"Among the more important historical areas administered by the Department of Interior are the Colonial National Historical Park, Gettysburg National Military Park, Fort McHenry, Fort Necessity National Battlefield Site, House Where Lincoln Died, Federal Hall Memorial (inauguration of Washington as first president), and Vicksburg National Cemetery.

"Already the number of visitors to these areas is running far ahead of last year."

Millionth Car Chevrolet Gift

DETROIT, July 20—The one-millionth 1940 Chevrolet car built in the United States left the line at the Flint plant exactly one month after No. 900,000 was produced.

Coincident with its completion M. E. Coyle, general manager announced that the car marking this major production milestone is being set aside to be awarded to the winner of a nationwide contest to be conducted between now and Aug. 31, details of which are being supplied to Chevrolet dealers.

The official winner will drive his or her entry to the New York Worlds Fair, making the trips as the guest of Chevrolet to receive the one-millionth 1940 model, which will be on display in the General Motors Building at the Fair until that time.

Boston After Dark

—By GEORGE HOLLAND—

(We have seen some pretty good ballerinas who outshone even supple Harriet Hoctor with whom Mr. Walters compares Miss Ivins) . . . This be as it may, the Latin Quarter is the most successful nightclub in the Cape's history, excluding, of course, that ill-starred nightclub (of six years ago and thirty or forty miles away) where the entertainment was spectacular, but the cost of which was defrayed by an added attraction—dice and roulette.

WALTER DONAHUE, this column's first flight favorite as a dancing master-of-ce emonies, is at the Latin Quarter, and the Helen Swanson Foursome, Helen Carrol and Janet Carroll are carrying over where they subsided when the Latin Quarter was a winter nightclub, in Boston . . . Miss Carroll, impersonates the more famous Jeanette Macdonald, in an "adept bit of prima-donna-ing . . . The other Carrol girl takes off the torch singers who thrived when Ziegfeld was alive, although Ziegfeld did not go in extensively for torch-singers, admitting the usual exceptions which make the rule general.

CO-INCIDENCES DEPARTMENT: Having never gotten around to following up an item which was written but squeezed out on account of space lack, here is the strange time to report a million-toone shot that happened—indulgence please—at the last two were going to say "recent") Harvard and Yale football game . . . A family of famous brothers in South Boston were the Sullivan boys, of the City Point sector . . . Arthur, Henry and Francis, all elected different universities, and two of the three distinguished themselves in athletics, and all three were signally conspicuous in the World War.

ARTHUR, a Catholic University football player of the late 'teens, was a captain in the Diamond Division, Regular Army, and Henry was a captain of infantry . . . Francis found himself in another division far from his brothers . . . After the war, the two went their separate ways . . . Arthur braved the metropolis and made good . . . Henry went to Mexico and South America and landed eventually in Washington . . . Francis did well enough in Boston to stick to the old home 'own . . . Came Harvard-Yale day . . . Henry came here from Washington . . . Arthur from New York, and Francis, of course, merely crossed the brid e and lo! he was in the Stadium . . . Henry and Arthur found themselves occupying adjacent seats, although each had applied through widely disconnected sources, and neither knew that the other was planning to see the game . . . You can imagine their amazement when brother Francis hailed them from two rows back.

WELL, Special Officer James Hanley, Station 4, had parked his car the other evening in American Legion Highway, while he and his wife watched activity on the grounds of the Mattapan Hospital . . . They finally pulled away from the curb, and whoosh—a passing car swooped down and Officer Hanley's left fender was crushed . . . James was very angry . . . Ex officio but nevertheless in a stern mood, the officer proceeded to berate the occupant of the other car . . . He discovered that the driver was his cousin, John . . . They hadn't met for years.

Canada to Keep French Ties

OTTAWA, Ont., July 20 (INS) - Government spokesmen today said Canada has decided not to break diplomatic relations with France.

"There is a long-standing friendship between Canada and France that there is no reason to disturb," spokesmen said. "Canadians sympathize with France in the situation in which she finds herself and many citizens of that country are serving with the British forces. Furthermore, it was France that broke off relations with England, not England with France."

Ethel Davies' Rites Monday

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 20 (INS)—Funeral services will be conducted Monday for Miss Ethel Davies, sister of Marion Davies, the film star, who died Thursday evening in her Beverly Hills home following three weeks' illness.

Miss Davies was the daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Bernard Douras. Besides her noted sister, she is survived by another sister, Rose Davies.

At one time in her career, Miss Davies was with the Ziegfeld Follies, appearing with her sister Rose. She was a talented dancer and appeared in skits with Will Rogers and with Harry Carroll, well known composer.

Funeral services will be conducted in the church of the Good Shepherd under the direction of the Rev. John F. O'Donnell of the Immaculate Heart Church.

MINE CHIEF DIES

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., July 20 (AP) —John Ira Thomas, Pennsylvania state secretary of mines, died today of heart and kidney ailments.

Mistress Mary's Garden

—By T. W. LEGGETT—

Among the older shrubs that are very decorative in certain positions are the various kinds of tamarisks. For some strange reason we do not see these shrubs as often as we should. There are several species of tamarisks in cultivation and their Latin name is very similar to their common one, tamarix.

Tamarisks are a real boon to seashore gardeners for they will withstand salt spray and grow unusually well in sandy soil. Seashore gardens often utilize them to good advantage.

The foliage of tamarisks is very fine and is useful for cutting for foliage in summer flower arrangements. But here it must be used with discretion, as too much of it is never attractive.

A number of species do not survive our winters, but experts advise the selection of the hardy ones, the commonest is Tamarix pentandra, a large shrub producing great clusters of pink bloom in late summer. Odessa Tamarisk blooms a little earlier

A kind with distinctive blue-green leaves and pink flowers is T. hispidia; this is a fairly hardy species growing around four feet in height. The common one which is in bloom now, making soft masses of delicate pink, is T. parviflora.

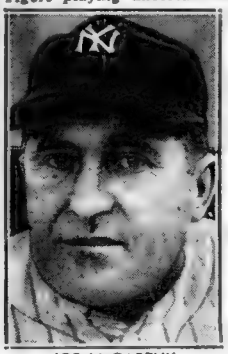
BROADWAY IS once more leaning toward the Yanks . . . It believes that with Red Sox, Indians and Tigers playing uncertain baseball the men of Joe McCarthy still have a chance to win the American League pennant . . . The success of the Yanks against Cleveland in their recent series did much to solidify this belief.



JOE McCARTHY

Baseball men in New York do not rate the flag chances of the Indians very highly . . . They insist Cleveland lacks what it takes to win a hard pennant fight . . . The actions of the players earlier in the season in demanding that Oscar Vitt be fired was sufficient proof of this . . . The Indians go to pieces quickly when the pressure is applied.

The Yanks consider the Red Sox their toughest opposition . . . They still recall vividly the way the Red Sox swept a five game series at the Yankke Stadium last summer . . . Joe McCarthy has told intimates that the Sox would today have a commanding lead in the pennant race if they had better pitching . . . The Sox batting power is acknowledged by the Yanks as well as by the other American League clubs.

With the Yanks, Sox, Indians and Tigers so inconsistent all season, most anything can happen in the closing drive . . . The team that gets the breaks will win . . . In most close games, it is not the better ball club that wins . . . Victory goes to the team that gets the breaks . . . There are baseball men who will tell you that the better club usually makes the breaks . . . I do not believe this is always true . . . There is a certain element of luck in a line drive either going directly at an infielder or a few inches beyond his reach . . . Let us hope that the Sox get their share of the breaks in the flag fight.

Alfred Vanderbilt Increases Racing Prestige

ALFRED VANDERBILT has increased his racing prestige as a result of his successes in New York this season. Vanderbilt is the controlling power at Belmont, and has done much to improve the popularity of that racing course.

Vanderbilt also owns Pimlico in Maryland, and there is talk that he will soon step into the picture at Hialeah Park in Florida.

There was a time when Vanderbilt was satisfied if his racing losses did not exceed more than $250,000 in any one season. Since going in for race track promotions, Vanderbilt likes to see all of his racing ventures in the black.

Vanderbilt told me that the three New England tracks, Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park, have done much for racing. He said that the victory of Eight Thirty in the $50,000 Handicap proved that a horse in competition has an edge on one that has not had sufficient racing as proved true in the case of Challedon.

The meeting at Empire has been a tremendous financial success. There are more big bettors at the New York tracks than is true in New York which accounts for such large mutuel handles when the attendance figures are only 18,000 to 20,000.

In New York, trainers are able to get business men who will bet as much as $1000 to $5000 when a horse is ready to make his top try. The trainers are cut in on the winnings, while if there is a loss the business man is obliged to take it. This is one of the reasons why so many leading trainers like to keep their racing stables at the New York tracks.

Random Shots at Target

WHILE HENRY Armstrong scored a decisive victory over Lew Jenkins that bout proved the welterweight king can be shaken up by a punch . . . When Jenkins nailed Armstrong with short right hand blows to the head, Hammering Henry was content to rush to close quarters and hold . . . One of Jenkins' left hand shots opened up a gash over Armstrong's right eye in the fifth round . . . This would have proved a serious handicap for Armstrong if he had not been in such excellent physical condition at the time.

Eddie Mead took a page from the book of Pop Foster, former manager of Jimmy McLarnin, in arranging the weight conditions for the Armstrong-Jenkins bout . . . The weight of 140 pounds gave Armstrong a winning advantage . . . One of the reasons why McLarnin was so successful was because he usually had a weight margin on his opponent . . . Foster once made the mistake of giving away weight to Lou Brouillard, and the Worcester favorite gave McLarnin a licking.

The small boxing clubs in New York have been drawing poorly since the summer season opened . . . There is not any excuse for summer boxing unless the show is too big to be staged during the indoor season . . . In the summer months, the beaches prove a better attraction than the average run of small shows.

Gansett Race Opener Postponed by Rain

NARRAGANSETT PARK, Pawtucket, R. I., July 20—Rain washed out the scheduled opening of the Grand Circuit harness race meeting here today, when the track became sloppy and too dangerous for the racers and their sulkies.

The opening Monday, it was announced by meeting officials, will feature the appearance of Greyhound, harness race champion trotter. The remainder of Monday's card will be a complete new program, and not a carry-over of today's scheduled events.

The postponement announcement was held up until midmorning, disappointing thousands of racegoers who had planned to attend the inaugural of the first Grand Circuit meeting ever held here.

HAS ALL-STAR HEX ADDED WEST TO LIST?

By HERB FINNEGAN

Is Max West to join that lengthening line of baseball heroes whose careers have been blighted in the annual major league all-star game?

Boston fandom sincerely hopes not as it watches Casey Stengel's kids in their courageous effort to make their presence felt in the National League race. The Bees miss Max's hitting just as they have missed Jim Tobin's pitching throughout this doleful campaign.

Max, you recall, was Mr. Big July 9 as the National League all-stars blanked the American Leaguers, 4-0, at St. Louis' Sportsman's Park. It was Max's three-run homer in the first inning which cemented the victory.

IN GREAT PAIN

In the second inning, you may recall, Max crashed into the right field stands while chasing a line drive and injured his hip.

Nothing serious, it was said. He would be able to play against the Cubs two days later, when major league schedules were resumed.

They were right in one respect. Max did play. And he played several games after that.

But he isn't playing now. He's back home undergoing short wave diathermy treatments at Dr. Eddie O'Brien's because he thought his back was ripping open every time he swung at a ball.

CRONIN ROASTED

The all-star game has rightly been called the 'Managers' Headache." Joe McCarthy had the American League team two years ago, and was beaten by the then great Vander Meer and the rest. He was assailed by American League heads for using too many players, despite the fact that the fans wanted to see their favorites.

Last year, McCarthy had the club again. This time he shot for victory and got it. What was the result? He was blasted for using too many Yankees.

So Joe chucked the job, and Joe

M'COSKY TAKES OVER

By the Associated Press

Just to give one an idea how tight the American League batting championship race is, consider the case of Luke Appling.

Last week he was tied for the lead with young Taft Wright with a mark of .358. This week his average is .346—but he's down in fifth place.

Leader this week is Barney McCosky of the Tigers by the narrowest of margins over Rip Radcliff of the Browns. McCosky is hitting at .3553 and Radcliff at .3550.

Wright, who led for two weeks, is in third place, tied with Lou Finney of Boston at .354.

The National League has no such troubles. Harry Danning, Giant catcher, continues to pace the field. His mark of .347 this week is a fraction better than it was last time the averages were compiled.

In second place this week is Merrill May of the Phillies, whose .331 gives him only a slim edge over the Cubs' hustling Billy Nicholson, .326.

H. C. Boy Gains Shenecossett Semi-Finals

EASTERN POINT, Ct., July 20 (AP) Eddie Foy, of Holy Cross and Montclair, N. J., scored a two up victory today over Tony Kosinski of Bridgeport, Ct., defending round of the Shenecossett men's invitation golf tournament.

The 22-year-old Holy Cross football player, who lost to Kosinski in last year's final, went into the semi-finals against Walter O'Rourke, 40-year-old Brooklyn lawyer, who won an easy 6 and 5 decision over Joseph Mitchell of Danielson.

In the other bracket, 17-year-old Bobby Patrick, of Norwich, Ct., turned back Dom Soccoli of New Britain, 4 and 3 and advanced to the semi-final against Ralph Bogart of Washington, D. C., conqueror of Jimmy Batterson, of Hartford, two up.

U. S. Treasurer With Farley

CLEVELAND, July 20 (AP)—The Plain Dealer says it has learned that W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, treasurer of the United States, probably will be one of the members of the syndicate which will finance the purchase of the New York Yankees and place Postmaster General James A. Farley in charge of the baseball organization.

Completion of the deal will probably await Farley's resignation as chairman of the Democratic national committee next week.

INDIANS CHASE GROVE OFF MOUND IN 2ND

Cleveland Batters In Field Day

By BILL GRIMES

FENWAY PARK, July 20—Manager Joe Cronin called on Robert Moses Grove today to hurl the first game of the three-game series between the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox.

Grove was seeking his sixth victory of the year.

Opposing Grove was Mel Harder who has a record of five and five.

A crowd of about 10 000 was on hand when the game started.

FIRST INNING

INDIANS — Chapman walked. Weatherly forced Chapman, Cronin to Doerr. Boudreau forced Weatherly, Tabor to Doerr. Trosky flied to Doerr in short right. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Di Maggio tripled Cramer hit to Keltner and DiMaggio after starting for home turned back towards third and was run down, Keltner to Boudreau, Cramer taking second. Cronin doubled, scoring Cramer. Williams went out, Trosky to Harder who covered first. Boudreau threw out Foxx ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING

INDIANS—Bell doubled. Keltner hit a home run over the left field wall scoring behind Bell. Mack followed with another homer over the left field wall. Hemsley singled. Harder sacrificed, and when Grove bit Harder on the head Hemsley went to third and Harder was safe at first. Chapman singled, scoring Hemsley. Harder stopping at second. Johnson replaced Grove for the Red Sox. Weatherly bunted and forced Harder at third, Johnson to Tabor. Boudreau hit into a double play, Doerr to Cronin to Foxx. FOUR RUNS.

RED SOX—Doerr doubled Tabor walked. Peacock forced Tabor at second, Boudreau to Mack, Doerr taking third. Johnson hit into a double play, Mack to Boudreau to Trosky. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

INDIANS—Trosky went out, Foxx to Johnson, who covered first. Johnson threw out Bell, Keltner walked, Mack forced Keltner at second, Tabor to Doerr. NO RUNS.

RED SOX — DiMaggio singled. Mack threw out Cramer, Keltner threw out Cronin, DiMaggio holding second. Williams flied to Bell. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

INDIANS — Tabor threw out Hemeley. Harder went out the same way. Chapman singled. Weatherly forced Chapman at second Cronin to Doerr. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Foxx singled. Doerr singled, Foxx stopping at second Tabor singled, scoring Foxx, Doerr

ON THE LOOSE AGAIN. Quiescent all year, these Yankee Bombers have found the range again.. They've won their last three games in decisive fashion, sweeping the Cleveland series, and today were only four games off the pace. Left to right, the boys are: Bill Dickey, Joe Di Maggio, Charlie Keller, Red Rolfe, George Selkirk and Joe Gordon.

Murderers' Row Regains Punch; Yanks Put Pressure on League

To borrow a Tin Pan Alley phrase: The Yanks are coming. Looking more and more like the club that pulverized the American League for four straight years, the Yanks sounded a note that must have been grimly familiar with yesterday's 15-6 third-straight victory over the erstwhile league leading Cleveland Indians, according to the Associated Press.

For the Yankees did it their trade-marked way—via home runs. Babe Dahlgren hit two, Buddy Rosar, who has sparked the current drive, got another—along with a single, double and triple for a perfect day—and Joe Gordon got the fourth. He hit it on a three-and-nothing pitch, believe it or not.

In battering down the Indians three-in-a-row, the Yanks picked on pretty fair pitchers—Bobby Feller, Al Milnar and Al Smith—while running the Indians' losing streak to six straight.

GOMEZ INJURED

Seven runs in the first inning did the damage yesterday and the note of glee in the Yankee dressing room was marred only by the thought that Lefty Gomez will be out for a week or ten days. He was struck on the pitching hand by a ball off Roy Weatherly's bat.

Meanwhile the Detroit Tigers tightened their hold on first place by shutting out the Red Sox, 4—0, behind the seven-hit hurling of Tommy Bridges. Rudy York hit a homer with one on.

Thornton Lee stopped the five-game winning streak of the amazing Senators 9 to 1 with a five-hit job. The White Sox pounded Walter Masterson and Joe Krakauskas for a dozen hits. Lee allowed only one Senator to get as far as second base after the second inning and yielded only two hits in the last six frames.

BROWNS FINALLY WIN

Johnny Berardino's homer with one on in the ninth was the winning margin as the Browns snapped a 14-game losing streak by beating the Athletics, 9-7.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds remained three games ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers since both absorbed beatings. The Reds outhit the Boston Bees, but lost 8-7 when the Bees bunched four safeties with two Cincinnati errors in the seventh inning.

The Cubs counted on Hank Leiber and Bill Nicholson for an 11-4 victory over the Dodgers. Hank homered with three on and Nicholson slammed a four-bagger with one on.

The game was marred by a fistic free-for-all when Hugh Casey hit Claude Passeau with a pitched ball. Passeau tossed his bat at Casey—and the fireworks were on. Passeau and Joe Gallagher, who led the Dodger skirmishers—were banished from the game.

The Cardinals snatched a pair of victories from the Phils, 3-2 and 5-3, both with late inning rallies. In the first Kirby Higbe allowed only one hit for six innings, but the Cards rose in the seventh and eighth to win.

In the second game Johnny Rizzo's 12th homer gave the Phils a 3-2 edge in the eighth, but Ernie Koy pumped one over the fence to score behind Enos Slaughter, who had walked. Then Joe Orengo doubled and Martin Marion singled him home.

Hal Schumacher gave the Giants a 5-2 win over the Pirates. He batted in three runs with a triple, and got credit for his seventh victory though the 90 degree heat wore him down and he had to be relieved.

Gallagher, Passeau Fined

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Claude Passeau, Chicago pitcher, was fined $75, and Joe Gallagher, Brooklyn outfielder, $50 by President Ford Frick of the National League today for causing a disturbance in yesterday's Cubs-Dodgers game at Chicago.

Frick said he fined Passeau for throwing his bat toward the mound after being "dusted off" by Pitcher Hugh Casey, and Gallagher for leaving the bench and mixing into something that was none of his business.

Kilmer Horses Due To Feature Spa Sale

Willis Sharpe Kilmer is dead, but his great knowledge of breeding lines will be very much in evidence at next month's Saratoga sales.

For instance, the Court Manor consignment to the sales will offer a brother of Sun Egret (by Sun Edar out of Polly-Egret), a full brother to Dedayr (Neddie-Sunayr), a full brother to Gino Tex (Gino-Sun Tess), and a half-sister to Chance Sun (Neddie-Sunaibl).

B'S TALLY ON MILLER, ROSS HITS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 20—The Bees sent Dick Errickson to the mound today against Pittsburgh in the opening game of the series. Joe Bowman was Manager Frank Frisch's choice.

Errickson has a record of six wins and four losses while Bowman has won four and lost seven. The attendance was 2000.

FIRST INNING

BEES—Sisti was called out on strikes. Hassett lined to L. Waner. Cooney singled. Ross tripled, scoring Cooney. Rowell fouled to Lopez. ONE RUN.

PIRATES—L. Waner singled. P. Waner grounded into double play, Glossop to Miller to Hassett. Glossop threw out Garms. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

BEES—Lopez made a fine running catch of Miller's foul. Glossop walked. Berres was called out on strikes. Errickson forced Glossop to Vaughan, unassisted. NO RUNS.

PIRATES—Vaughan hit a home run inside the park to the left in center. Glossop threw out Fletcher. Errickson threw out Van Robays. Gustine singled off Errickson's glove. Gustine was caught off first and run down. Arrickson to Hassett to Miller. ONE RUN.

THIRD INNING

BEES—Sisti singled. Hassett flied to Van Robays. Cooney walked. Gustine threw out Ross as the runners advanced. Rowell was purposely passed, filling the bases. Miller singled, scoring Sisti and Cooney. Gustine threw out Glossop. TWO RUNS.

PIRATES—Lopez flied to Cooney. Bowman walked. L. Waner lined to Rowell. P. Waner fouled to Berres. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

BEES—Berres flied to L. Waner. Errickson flied to Van Robays. Sisti popped to Gustine. NO RUNS.

PIRATES — Garms singled. Vaughan lined to Rowell. Fletcher singled. Garms taking third. Van Robays grounded into a double play, PLAYERS RIOT—War invaded the diamond when Dodgers and Cubs tangled during eighth inning of their game at Chicago. The fray started when Pitcher Claude Passeau of the Cubs was hit by a ball pitched by Casey of the Dodgers. Passeau threw his bat at Casey and the battle was on. Here is a close up of hostilities with Gabby Hartnett, center, Cubs' manager, holding Joe Gallagher, Brooklyn player, right. After peace was declared the Cubs went on to win the game, 11 to 4.

GRAEME CRACKER, JIMMY LYNCH UP, TAKES 2ND RACE

By TOM SHEHAN

SUFFOLK DOWNS, July 20—Reserving his mount off the pace in third place most of the way as Paul Andolino's Gay Balko and Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart's Equistar fought it out for the lead out of the gate, down the backstretch, and around the turn, Jimmy Lynch brought home W. Strawbridge's Graeme Cracker first by 3 lengths in the second race here today, a six furlong claiming affair for $3000 platers.

Combined in the daily double, Glen Riddle Farm's War Bugle and Graeme Cracker brought a $43.80 payoff to the holders of 525 tickets sold on this combination.

DIFFERENT TACTICS

In scoring his second straight victory at this track with Graeme Cracker, Lynch pursued entirely different riding tactics than when he won with the blue roan mare at Suffolk Downs on Tuesday.

On that occasion he rushed her right out of the gate to set the pace all the way, but today he was content to sit back on his mount and let Equistar and Gay Balko kill one another off in a duel for pace-setting honors until the stretch turn was negotiated.

Then he called upon his mount with hand and heel, and she responded to win with ease with Lynch hitting her only once. 50 yards from home when he reached down and cut her to make the score look certain.

Paired off as in the wagering, Graeme Cracker paid $9.60 in the betting and was timed in 1.11.2, one-fifth of a second off the track record set by Balko, which clinched second money by a nose margin before the last drive of Weston Adams' Listato who attempted to move with the winner.

Listato had a length and a half a spare in front of Equistar who dropped back through the stretch. Gay Balko paid $5.20 to place and Listato was good for a $2.60 payoff to those who played him to show.

Glen Riddle Farm's War Bugle, gelded son of Man O'War, outgamed E. R. Bradley's Blinking Owl in the opening race, a five furlong allowance event which opened today's card.

With apprentice Orlando Hearn turning in a masterful performance, War Bugle flashed across the line a head in front of the Bradley filly after being timed in one minute flat for the distance.

DING-DONG BATTLE

The Man O' War gelding was scoring his second straight victory over this track and paid $8.80 to win.

While Blinking Owl was all out to get within a head of the winner, she was two lengths in advance of Grand Thom's Bright Camp and paid $3.00 to place.

Bright Camp finished a nose in front of White Oak Farm's Lovely Dawn and paid $3.20 to show.

The battle for the lead was a ding-dong affair with Jerome Loucheim's Hanid, Blinking Owl and War Bugle always in the contention.

Just when it appeared that Blinking Owl was going to move away from the pack, Hearn took War Bugle off the rail out into the middle of the race track and hand rode him out to overtake Blinking Owl just a jump before the wire.

GREEDAN WINS THIRD

Flying over horses in the stretch after being reserved off the pace most of the way, G. R. Watkins' Greedan accounted for the third race, a mile and a sixteenth claiming event for $3500 platers. The St. Andrew colt flashed across the line three-quarters of a length in front of Alexander S. Pierce's Red War in 1.45.3 and paid $12.60 to his supporters after earning brackets for the third time this year.

Red War, who finished two lengths in front of Benjamin N. Kane's Bucket Head and paid $3.40 to place, set the pace from the clubhouse turn to the eighth pole. Tiring at that point, Greedan came flying up on the outside to take the lead away from the Man o'War gelding. With his mount floundering under him and Bucket Head, who finished third six lengths in front of Mrs. Hugh Goode's Bo Jean and paid $2.60 to show, challenging, Meade crossed over in front of the Kane standard bearer and took his mount out into the middle of the track. No Fou was claimed however.

KIDNEY PUNCHES END HOSTAK REIGN

SEATTLE, July 20 (AP)—A hard-punching Polish boy from the Gary, Ind., steel mills was the new owner of the National Boxing Ass'n's middleweight championship today, and he owes his newly won bauble to a kidney punch.

Tony Zale, the handsome 26-year-old blond battler, won the crown last night with a 13th round technical knockout over Al Hostak of Seattle. Tony weighed 158, Hostak 158¾.

Hostak, with iron chin and brittle hands, had never been on the floor before, much less knocked out, but Zale floored him thrice—not with blows to the jaw, but with deadly right-hand kidney punches which drew loud "oofs" from Hostak as they landed.

OVERLIN MATCH NEXT?

After Hostak went down helpless for the third time, Referee Benny Leonard, the former lightweight champion, heeded the towel waving of Hostak's manager, Eddie Marino, and stopped the slaughter.

The outcome merely continued the current confusion over who's the champion middleweight, the only change being a new male lead in the N. B. A.'s production.

Ken Overlin, the Virginia ex-sailor, is recognized as champion in New York and California.

Whether Zale meets Overlin "all depends on what turns up after we return East Sunday," Zale's co-managers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, said.

The Hostak who took the whipping before some 15,000 fans last night wasn't the same Hostak who blasted his way to the title with kayoes over Freddie Steele and later over Solly Krieger.

HOSTAK'S HANDS

Al was a worried boy—worried over whether his hands would hold up. He lacked confidence and his timing was off, and Zale took three of the first four rounds.

Al rained dozens of blows at Tony in the fifth to take that round, but the sturdy Zale usually wound up by taking the play away from the champion.

Hostak was awarded the ninth because of a low blow, and that was the last time he had an edge.

Zale put a cut under Hostak's left eye in the sixth, and by the 10th had both the Seattle boy's peepers puffed up like red Christmas tree bulbs.

Grissom Headed Back to Dodgers

Lefty Lee Grissom had a tough job getting started in the International League after he was sent down to the Montreal Royals by Brooklyn, the Associated Press tells us. But he's traveling under a full head of steam now and is one of the reasons the Royals are riding along in third place today.

The eccentric southpaw has won his last four starts. If he can keep up his present pace he may find himself back in the big time again before the season is over.

Last night Grissom halted a six game winning streak of the league leading Rochester Red Wings, letting them down with six hits to chalk up a 5-3 triumph. His mates pounded a trio of Red Wing hurlers for 10 hits.

COLLEGIAN LOSES

The victory advanced Montreal to within four games of the second place Newark Bears, who lost to Syracuse 7-1.

Pep Rambert, making his first appearance since July 2, limited the Bears to five safeties for his fifth victory of the season Tommy Byrne, rookie collegian, started for Newark and was charged with his first defeat.

Jersey City dropped back into fifth place, losing a 6-2 decision to the Baltimore Orioles. The Birds got to Hughie East, 20-year-old righthander, for all their runs. Italo Chelini went the distance for Baltimore and allowed only five hits.

TWO HOMERS

The last-place Toronto Maple Leafs, although outhit, took advantage of a Buffalo error, good for three unearned runs, to defeat the Bisons, 6-5, for their third straight win.

Clyde McCullough slammed out two home runs for Buffalo, his 14th and 15th of the year, to provide three Bison tallies, while Latshaw and Bell each fashioned round-trippers for the Leafs. Carl Fischer, Toronto starter, was the winning hurler.

SOX MUST USE KID PITCHERS IF CLUB IS TO STAY IN RACE

By BILL GRIMES

The Red Sox apparently cannot stand prosperity. Instead of trailing the Tigers by a margin of two games and back in third place, the Croninmen should be only a few percentage points behind Del Baker's charges.

They had the baseball world, at least the American League section, by the tail, after they'd taken both ends of a twin bill from the Bengals on Wednesday.

Then they went into reverse, presented the third game of the series to the Tigers and were beaten, 4 to 0, yesterday by the masterly pitching of Tommy Bridges.

ALL LEADERS SLUMP

During the past week the Red Sox, Cleveland and Detroit have slumped badly. The Red Sox took one out of three from the White Sox, and then after taking three straight from the Browns they broke even with the Tigers.

The Indians arrived here this morning from New York. It's been a full week since Cleveland has chalked up a victory. They beat the Athletics a week ago today, but then they lost six in a row, three to the Washington Senators and an equal number to the New York Yankees.

YANKS ARE ONES TO WATCH

The Tigers came here after losing three out of four to the Athletics. They were on the toboggan headed south. They blew a doubleheader to the Red Sox on Wednesday and were licked the following day, until the Croninmen made the fatal mistake of attempting to coast home after piling up an 8 to 3 lead.

Throughout the country, the baseball fans are watching the race between Detroit, Cleveland and the Red Sox. They should turn their attentions to the Yankees. The McCarthymen have been floundering around all season. A week ago today, the Yanks were seven games out of first place. Today they were four games in arrears of the Tigers, two and a half back of the Indians and within a brace of games from the Red Sox.

Despite the numerous reverses they have encountered this season, the Yanks are still the strongest and best balanced club in the American League. They took three straight from Cleveland and this afternoon they tackled on the Tigers. And, by the time that they start west tomorrow night, the Yanks will be right up in the thickest of the battle and have a good chance of returning home in first place.

Manager Joe Cronin must shake up his pitching corps. At present Robert Moses Grove and Fritz Ostermueller are the only reliables on his roster. Grove was kayoed in the opener against the Indians this afternoon.

Alex Mustaikis, recently recalled from Scranton, Pa., of the Eastern League, gave a very fine account of himself yesterday as a relief hurler. After the Tigers had bunched five of the six hits made off Denny Galehouse and scored four runs, Mustaikis took over in the sixth inning. During the four rounds he was on the hilltop Mustaikis not only shut out the Detroiters but he allowed only one hit, a two-bagger down the left field foul line by Pete Fox in the seventh.

On his showing yesterday Mustaikis has earned a starting assignment. The Red Sox chances of staying up in the race may depend on Alex Mustaikis. If the lanky right hander is able to deliver, the Croninmen will continue to contend for top honors.

CRONIN LOOKING PERFECT

Of course the Red Sox cannot function successfully with only three pitchers and right now Denny Galehouse rates as a starting hurler. On the other hand it is very apparent that the American League hitters have caught up with Herb Hash, Jim Bagby and Charlie Wagner. Jack Wilson is an in and outer and, under the conditions, not a good risk.

Joe Cronin gave Earl Johnson, rookie, a chance today after Grove was kayoed and he started off well. If he can win he'll be a Sox lifesaver.

Tommy Bridges had too much stuff for the Red Sox yesterday and was fully deserving of his shut out victory. Tommy allowed the Red Sox seven hits. He was in trouble in three innings but he applied the old pressure and came through in great style.

HENRY ARMSTRONG 'MAN OF WEEK'

By International News Service

Henry Armstrong, world welterweight champion, draws the little brass ring this week for his knockout victory over Lew Jenkins, hard-hitting lightweight champion.

Although they fight in two different classes, there was only a 3½ pound difference in their weights.

Henry draws the little brass ring, too, because he is always willing to fight anybody, anywhere, any time; because he always gives his best, and because he always has a good word to say for his opponents.

Although Henry took everything Jenkins had and then went on to finish the Texan, it was apparent that the little welter boss has gone over the hill as a fighter.

He lacks his old dash and speed and perhaps some of his phenomenal stamina. Nevertheless, he can go still farther down hill and still beat all the Jenkinses there are around.

Henry is one of the most remarkable battlers the ring has known. He has a whirlwind style of punching that makes an opponent either fight or jump through the ropes. He absorbs punches like a sponge takes water but he usually manages to give more than he takes.

He is by far the most intelligent of the fighters now in the ring, and he has been smart enough to set aside part of his earnings in annuities.

Therefore, it is unlikely that anybody will ever have to stage a benefit for him.

He likes to write, and he has penned some verses that are surprisingly good. All in all, the little chocolate champion is a credit to the game.

Diamond Gems

Let's turn back to Boston stars of yesteryear . . . remember Jimmy Collins! . . . rather short and of stocky build, Collins was one of the game's superior third basemen . . . after succeeding Billy Nash at the hot corner for the Boston Nationals in '96, speedy, hard hitting Jim blazed a spectacular trail for several years with the Nationals and as player manager of the Red Sox from 1901-06 . . . the first . . . he ended his playing days with Providence in the eastern league in 1911 —WHIT CUSHING

LIKE AN AVALANCHE this field sweeps directly at camera going into the first turn at Empire City in the seventh race Friday. Learned leads here, but faded in the stretch with Stairs coming on fast to take the decision and pay $28.20 for $2. Eldee was third. Picture making of this kind is an unenviable assignment, for the cameraman really dares death as he lies just under the rail to get the shot.

Has All-Star Hex Hit Max West?

Cronin got a taste of the medicine this year when he was criticized roundly for starting Red Ruffing instead of Buck Newsom.

Similarly Gabby Hartnett was roasted a year back because he kept Morrie Arnovich on the bench.

But those are general headaches. The real one come when the manager loses a star through accidents.

STARTED DIZZY DOWN

Dizzy Dean is the most notable example. He broke his toe while pitching in the 1937 all-star game in Washington, injured his arm while favoring the broken toe, and now in the minors, evidently for keeps.

Previously Bill Hallahan, also of the Cards, had ruined his arm in the mid-summer classic. I have heard Jimmy Foxx and other sluggers say that Carl Hubbell has never been the same since he struck out Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Cronin, Simmons, et al., in succession in the 1934 game.

Lately the outfielders have been getting it. Last year, Ival Goodman fractured his collar bone diving for a liner. Not only did the Reds miss his services most of '39 season but the hard-hitting outfielder hasn't been the same since because the injury interfered with the smooth arc of his swing.

LOSS WOULD WRECK BEES

So what of West?

Casey Stengel and Dr. Eddie O'Brien are hoping he'll be his old self Tuesday when the Bees open at home with the Cubs. But they're not making any definite promises. That's a bad spot where he was hurt, right at the base of the spine, in the sacro-iliac region.

His loss would just about wreck the struggling Bees, who are badly in need of outfielders who c n hit.

Wonder if the major league magnates will continue that all-star game if some valuable player keeps getting hurt year after year.

FORECAST

Boston's Red Sox were in third place, two games behind the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and feeling the breath of the red hot Yankees on their necks as they tangled with Cleveland's Indians in a single game at Fenway Park this afternoon.

The standings at game time were:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	G.B.
Detroit	49	33	.598	—
Cleveland	48	35	.578	1½
BOSTON	47	35	.573	2
New York	44	36	.550	4

As Cleveland was playing at Boston, Detroit was engaging the Yankees in New York in this four-cornered AL pennant struggle, and changes in the standings were anticipated before nightfall.

If the Sox defeated the Indians and the Yankees defeated the Tigers, the standings tonight would be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	G.B.
Detroit	49	34	.590	—
BOSTON	48	35	.578	1
Cleveland	48	36	.571	1½
New York	45	36	.556	3

If the Sox defeated the Indians and the Tigers defeated the Yankees, the standings would be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	G.B.
Detroit	50	33	.602	—
BOSTON	48	35	.578	2
Cleveland	48	36	.571	2½
New York	44	37	.543	5

If the Sox lost to the Indians and the Yankees defeated the Tigers, the standings would be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	G.B.
Detroit	49	34	.590	—
Cleveland	49	35	.583	½
BOSTON	47	36	.566	2
New York	45	36	.556	3

If the Sox lost to the Indians and the Tigers defeated the Yankees, the standings would be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	G.B.
Detroit	50	33	.602	—
Cleveland	49	35	.583	1½

Bumpus Out to Shake Jinx at Newmarket

NEWMARKET, N. H., July 20—Among the outstanding big car drivers who will be on hand for tomorrow's racing at Newmarket Speedway, will be Bumpy Bumpus.

Bumpy will be attempting to throw off the jinx which has been so persistently dogging his tracks all season, causing him to lose every feature event this year despite having led to the halfway mark or better.

The card, under the sponsorship of the Eastern States Racing Association, will present a galaxy of the country's foremost racing drivers.

Wait Till N. Y. 'Pols' Ask Farley for Passes

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—BASEBALL BANTER: Wonder how many of those Democratic delegates who yelled for Farley are gonna remind him next year that they did—and ask for passes to the Yankee home games?

Baseball's only "Z" combination at second base is in Durham, Zeiasko at short and Zapar at second . . . Joe Palmisino, Mickey Cochrane's third-string understudy with the A's a decade ago, took over the Kannapolis (N. C.) Towelers late in May and boosted them from last to first place in 47 days . . . (Are the St. Louis Browns listening?) . . .

Shaving down his real monicker of Shultehenrich made Ham Schultz of the Phils popular with the printers . . . Couple of Fred (200 victories) Fitzsimmons' Brooklyn buddies are near the 100-game mark. Tex Carleton needs two more, and Curt Davis is shy just five.

Jimmy Hitchcock of the Columbus Red Birds may give up the diamond for good to become a full time member of the Auburn grid coaching staff.

Veteran Swimming Coach Harry Cochrane told Francis Stan of the Wash. "Star" that war has hit swimming the hardest of all sports. The incentive of the Olympic games has been wiped out and "it may take the sport years to shake off the blow."

JACK MILEY, NEW YORK "POST": "You folks who have been shedding tears over the Yankees can now dry your eyes. For the Yanks need sympathy just like Roosevelt needs public speaking lessons."

Arlington Futurity Next Chi Feature

With the Classic out of the way after today, all eyes at Arlington will be on the Futurity next Saturday, and the field shapes up as a grade A get-together.

Such top-flight juveniles as Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention and Mrs. Barclay K. Douglas' War Result and Port Alibi already have been shipped from the East, and Warren Wright's Whirlaway is turning in impressive workouts daily over the strip.

RURAL RUBE, GESTURE RENEW DUEL TONIGHT

"No alibis" was the terse comment of Art Wilson, owner of Brave Gesture and "Bud" Carroll, owner of Rural Rube, when their star greyhounds encountered bad racing luck in Wednesday night's match race and were bumped out of contention, with The Rube finishing out of the money and Brave Gesture recovering sufficiently to get up to save the place award.

After the race, both Wilson and Carroll expressed the hope that another race bringing their two stalwarts together would be scheduled without delay.

Acceding to their wishes, Racing Secretary Bill Fineran has scheduled such a race for the feature event on tonight's card at Wonderland. The race also brings together six other track flashes which includes, Yesterday, King Cole, winner of Wednesday's race; Teach Dancing, Ching Caress, Andrew's Tip and Whitey Maddox.

READY FOR BELL. Russ Murray, general manager at new Raynham dog track, looks over grounds with justifiable pride. With Russ are Sweet Twister and Renaissance.

Challedon Handed Tough Assignment

By the Associated Press

They're not giving Challedon any the best of it in shipping him to California for next week's Hollywood gold cup. W. L. Brann's big fellow left Suffolk yesterday for the transcontinental trip.

He'll reach Hollywood Park Monday, which will give him only four days to get ready to tangle with Kayak and the others. If he does it this time, Big Pete'll be just as much horse as they say he is.

War Bugle displayed keen speed at the start, dropped back rounding the turn, responded in determined fashion in the stretch and racing head and head with Blinking Owle the last sixteenth, outlasted her at the wire. Blinking Owle broke well, was slow to get going while racing on the outside, moved up fast on the outside on the turn and lost ground entering the stretch, took command when straightened out, but could not withstand the winner. Bright Camp, reserved early when outrun, saved ground entering the stretch and came fast between horses to gain the photo for third. Lovely Dawn closed fast from a slow beginning. Bullion, away poorly, gradually improved her position on the inside and closed well. Oh Oh never a serious factor. Patched Pants set a fast early pace and stopped rapidly in the drive. Hanid showed good early speed, then tired. Hasty Million was far back all during the running.

Daily Double—War Bugle and Graeme Cracker paid $43.80 for $2.

SECOND RACE—Purse $1100, 6 furlongs, for 3-year-olds and up, claiming. Start good from Puett gate, won ridden out, place driving. Went 1:51, off 2:52. Winner—W. Strawbridge's bl. ro. m. (5), Roigrey-Super Rock. Trained by J. Y. Pyle. Value to winner—$750, $200, $100, $50. Time—:22 4-5, :46 3-5, 1:11 2-5.

Winner entered to be claimed for $3000.
Scratched—Rissi, Gossip Time, PosterBy, Infidex.
Overweight—Patapsco 1, Equistar 2.
Owners—1, W. Strawbridge; 2, P. Andolino; 3, W. W. Adams; 4, Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart; 5, B. M. Smith; 6, Mrs. E. C. Eastwood; 7, Mrs. H. Plattner; 8, H. C. McGhee; 9, Grant Thorn.

Graeme Cracker was right up there the first quarter, was taken back slightly off the pace rounding the far turn and entering the stretch, responded to her rider's urging in the drive and drew out the lasts 50 yards. Gay Balko displayed good speed right from the start, forced the pace of the leader and outlasted the fast closing Listaro at the end. The latter, unable to match the early speed, moved around his field entering the stretch and closed with strong burst of speed, missing the place award. Equistar set the pace under pressure, held on for five furlongs, then tired from his precvious efforts. Cooling Spring showed a good effort while racing wide all the way. My Elsie broke slowly on the inside, worked her way up, though never a serious factor. Patpasco was never close. Purple King and Sirgay were always outrun.

THIRD—Greedan (Wholey), 12.60, 5.40, 3.20; Red War (Mearle), 3.40, 2.60; Bucket Head (Maschek), 2.60. Off 3:23½. Also: Manamaid, Bo Beau, Sneaky Henry.

FOURTH—Manila Bay (Wholey), 12.40, 5.40, 3.00; Miss L. P. (Mearle), 4.40, 2.60; Old Maid (Bates), 2.60. Off 3:55. Also: Barbed Retort, Scout Azure, Alsang, Discourse.
